

Yankee Tank Destroyers Hit Nazi Hangars, Burn Airplanes

By HAL BOYLE

Orleans, France, Aug. 20 (Delayed) (AP)—It is a rare day on the battlefield when armored units bag enemy planes, but when the Americans were cleaning up around Orleans our tank destroyers came up so quickly on one airfield a few miles north of the town they caught a bunch of German planes sitting on the ground.

Some of the tank destroyers crashed right through hangar buildings and ran right over the planes, crushing them. Other units of the column just cut loose with their guns and began whanging their shells into the planes. It took only a few seconds to turn them all into bonfires.

Pfc Thurman McGee from Eldorado, Ill., said "Our boys really shot the hell out of them."

Surprise Fliers
Most of the German fliers, he related, were caught completely by surprise.

"They took off and ran to the woods," he said, but "we caught them. Those fliers were so used to riding in airplanes they didn't want to hoof it very far and most of them gave up pretty easily."

"One bunch of 40 surrendered to one of our 40-mm ack-ack gun crews. They threw away their arms and crawled out of the woods. They don't like to fight much on the ground."

One American tank did another good job on three trucks loaded with Jerry's outside Orleans. They just blew them to pieces. We learned later that the Germans were coming to Orleans from Paris on a three-day furlough.

McGee and two of his friends, Sgt. Richard Rossman, of Racine, Wis., and Pvt. Cleo Miles, Davis City, Iowa, piled out plates of unbreakable glass from the cockpits of several of the wrecked enemy planes. These are among the most sought after items of soldier souvenir hunters.

Leave 5,000 Bombs
There is always a race between the Air Corps and ground troops to get to captured air fields to strip enemy planes of equipment.

"If you don't guess what you want in the Army you have got to go out and find it or make it," declared Rossman.

"I wish I could find a portable foxhole; I get tired of digging," he added.

After inspecting the wrecked field and its equipment L. J. Parker, Frederick, of Midvale, N. J., an aviation engineer, said the Germans had abandoned 5,000 unused bombs.

McGee said this was a shame to waste "all those nice bombs" and suggested that "we ought to take them up and dump them on Hitler in Berlin."

C. C. DIRECTORS URGE CLOSING ON VICTORY DAY

The board of directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, at a regular meeting Monday evening adopted a resolution suggesting a program of observance to be followed in Gettysburg when the war in Europe is over.

The resolution follows:
If official notification of V-Day comes before 2 p. m. on any week-day all business places will close immediately and remain closed until the following morning.

Should official notification come after 2 p. m. on any week-day all business places will close immediately and remain closed for the remainder of that day and the following day.

Ask Cooperation
Should official notification come after 2 p. m. on Friday all business places will close for the remainder of that day and open Saturday at 1 p. m.

Should official notification come on Sunday all business places will remain closed all day Monday.

The directors asked the cooperation of merchants in the above suggested program.
The regular monthly dinner-meeting of the Chamber will be held at the Hotel Gettysburg September 26.

Collect Scrap On Wednesday

With the emphasis again being put on the collection of waste paper, members of the Gettysburg fire company will make their annual canvass of the town for salvage materials Wednesday afternoon and evening beginning at 3 p. m.

JURY CONVICTS 2 DEFENDANTS IN COURT HERE

The August quarter session of criminal court recessed at noon today until 3 p. m. with a jury debating its decision in the case of Harry L. Scott, Freedom township farmer, charged with the malicious killing of a licensed dog. The jury had been out for more than two hours when court recessed.

The case currently on trial is that of Maurice Billebode, Railroad street, charged with a serious offense and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, counts on which the defendant originally had pleaded guilty but later entered pleas of "not guilty" to stand jury trial.

Two Are Convicted

Convict at 3 P. M.
The Scott case was completed Monday afternoon with the exception of the charge to the jury which was given this morning at 9:30 o'clock. The jury retired at 9:45 a. m. If a verdict is reached before court re-convenes at 3 o'clock this afternoon, it will be sealed and read when court opens.

Frank L. Mumper, Jr., Gettysburg, charged that Scott shot Mumper's dog while the animal lay under porch steps at the Mumper cottage along Marsh creek, less than a mile from the Scott property. An examination on the night of the shooting, June 3, showed the animal was hit by only one charge. Mumper testified, Scott said he shot at and hit the dog four times.

Scott said the first wound was inflicted while Mumper's dog chased Scott's chickens. Scott said he followed the dog home and shot it two more times en route before he delivered the fatal charge at the Mumper cottage. Mumper said the dog was licensed. Mrs. Scott testified briefly in support of her husband's testimony.

Explains Circumstances
In the court charge this morning Judge W. C. Sheely said it might possibly be considered cruelty to animals to cripple a dog and allow it to creep off and die of its wounds. The court explained the circumstances under which Scott might have been justified in pursuing the dog to "put an end to its suffering."

CITES FROZEN FOODS' FUTURE

Frozen foods may soon change the eating habits of the nation, Terry Mitchell, advertising manager of the Frick company at Waynesboro, told members of the Gettysburg Rotary club Monday evening in a talk in which he declared the coming era may find refrigeration as important as the generation of heat was in the last century.

Speaking on "The Era of Refrigeration," Mr. Mitchell told in a general way of the work his company is doing in building refrigerator units for military use. A battleship uses from 15 to 25 large refrigeration units, he stated. "One huge 5,000-ton refrigeration unit has a cooling effect equal to that of the melting of 20 million tons of ice in 24 hours," he declared.

He said artificial refrigeration has attained a temperature of 458.4 degrees below zero, a fraction of a degree from "absolute zero" in the scientific world.

Mr. Mitchell pointed out the economic possibilities of refrigeration when he stated that one large hotel reduced its employees by 24 by using a great proportion of frozen foods.

President Walter Africa presided at the meeting which was held at the YWCA building with 38 mem-

Hold Memorial Services Tonight

Memorial services for Cpl. Horace M. Bushman, 27, first Gettysburgian to lose his life in the invasion of France, will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Robert M. Hunt, pastor, will use as his sermon, "The Victory of Faith." Special music has been arranged.

Members of the Gettysburg fire company will attend the services in uniform and will occupy a special section of pews. Employees of The Gettysburg Times, fellow-workers with the deceased, will occupy another special section.

The services are open to the public.

STATE CHESS TOURNAMENT OPENS HERE SATURDAY

Gettysburg plays host to the sixth annual Pennsylvania State Chess Federation Tournament over the week-end. This is the first time this organization has selected Gettysburg for its convention city.

There will be one brief business session at one o'clock next Saturday afternoon in the Hotel Gettysburg annex followed by 28 hours of tournament chess extending through Labor Day.

The tournament this year, according to J. W. Stevenson, of Orono, secretary-treasurer of the federation, "will be the largest and best ever held. There will be more players competing than at any other previous tournament, and the finest chess players in the state will be here."

William M. Byland, of Pittsburgh, is president of the federation. D. R. Webb, of Waynesboro, is vice president.

Tournament Director

Some of the star players who will compete in the tournament here include: T. C. Gutekunst, of Allentown, 1943 champion; A. Di Camillo, Philadelphia city champion; C. S. Shipe, of Shippensburg, who placed fourth in last year's tournament; Robert Reel, Pittsburgh; T. A. Barackett, Philadelphia; A. W. Fry, Hazelton; Henry Hesse, of Bethlehem, former state champion; R. Kneerham, of Reading; P. B. Driver, Ridley Park; I. Ash, of Philadelphia, and about forty others.

Each player in the tournament must play seven games. The tournament will be held in the Hotel Gettysburg Annex and the public is invited. There is no admission. Visitors may walk around the tables to watch the play but will not be permitted to talk or comment on the progress of the game. "Absolute quiet" will be the order throughout the tournament.

Tourney Schedule
After the brief business session Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, tournament play will begin and continue until six o'clock. Play will continue as follows:

Saturday evening: 8 p. m. to midnight.
Sunday: 8 a. m. to noon; 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. (Please Turn to Page 5)

BAN AFFECTS ALL UNDER 17

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County Medical Director, today clarified a misunderstanding as to the age of children who are affected by the health ban.

"Any person who is not 17 years of age is affected by the health ban. A 16 year old youngster or even one approaching 17 is directly affected and must adhere to the health rules," Doctor Crist said.

The Rev. Fr. Cyril J. Alwein, athletic director at Delone high school, McSherrystown, reporting on the football camp of Delone high at Buchanan Valley, told a Times reporter this afternoon:

"We have about 15 or 16 boys in camp. Everyone is 17 years old or better."

Doctor Crist visited the Delone camp this morning and said he had been advised that the boys were all over the health ban age limit.

SCHOOLS OPEN SEPT. 11 UNLESS POLIO SPREADS

Schools in Gettysburg and Adams county will open for the 1944-45 term on Monday, September 11. "If there are no new cases of infantile paralysis or meningitis" between now and that date, Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county medical director, announced today.

"However, if one or more new cases of those diseases develop before September 11 the opening of all schools throughout the county will be postponed another two weeks," Doctor Crist said.

"The most flagrant violators of the health ban are the mothers," the county medical director said. "For some unknown reason they seem to take this serious situation lightly and many of them are openly violating the health rules."

Will Prosecute

"Unless they desist from this practice I propose to take steps to prosecute them. The health ban must be obeyed by everybody. No one is exempt. The strict enforcement is primarily to protect our children and if anyone is not considerate enough to cooperate with the rest of the people then they will be prosecuted."

"Our objective in this crisis is to prevent the further spread of these horrible diseases. It is the duty of every individual to cooperate to the fullest extent. Mothers must keep their children home. They dare not congregate. This is the last warning I am going to issue. Any further violations will be prosecuted."

Placards were scheduled to be distributed today throughout the town warning children against health ban violations. The notices pose a prohibition rule against children entering certain places.

Covers 59 Counties

Harrisburg, Aug. 29 (AP)—Pennsylvania's infantile paralysis outbreak spread over 59 counties today with the Health Department listing a state-wide total of 548 cases—far less than the unofficial total.

Of the new cases reported, two came from heretofore immune Perry county while Harrisburg health authorities admitted to a hospital Dauphin county's first suspected victim of the disease.

Adams county schools were ordered to be kept closed until health authorities give permission for them to open. Last week all 16-year-olds were barred from theatres, churches and Sunday schools.

Reports from other areas listed: Philadelphia, 147 cases, not including 11 unconfirmed; Pittsburgh, 131 cases, and Johnstown, 50 cases.

IMPORTANCE OF COUNTY TIMBER CITED TO LIONS

Selective cutting and unit selling of timber have netted some Adams county farmers a return of from 60 cents to $3.50 an hour for labor spent in farm woodlots in "harvesting the annual crop" of timber, D. E. Hess, farm forester for the county office of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, told members of the Gettysburg Lions club in a talk Monday evening.

Speaking before the weekly dinner meeting of the service club of which he is a member, Mr. Hess told what new tools and new markets may mean—and are already meaning—for lumberland owners throughout the nation as well as the owners of 40,000 acres of woodland in Adams county.

Predicts Expansion
"I look for a great expansion in the use of wood, wood products, cellulose products and plastics after the war," he declared as he pointed out the many new uses for wood which in some instances has been found to "cost less, weigh less, have more strength and be just as fire resistant as metals."

Disclosing that only recently have sawmill men in this area begun to scale logs and purchase timber by the thousand board feet instead of

County Soldier Wounded Abroad

Pvt. Theron J. Little, 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Little, Gettysburg R. 5, was seriously wounded in action in France on August 12, his parents have been notified by telegram from the War Department.

Pfc. Little, who served in the infantry, had been overseas for about a year. He was inducted December 1, 1942, and took his basic training at Camp Van Dorn, Miss. Before induction he was employed at the L. E. Beaudin shoe factory in Hanover.

He is one of four sons in the Little family who have entered the armed forces. Corp. Wilbur John Little is stationed in Mississippi and S. C. Norman Little is on duty in the South Pacific. A third brother, Raymond, also served in the Navy but has received a medical discharge.

The Littles reside near Bonneauville south of the Gettysburg-Hanover highway.

CARS WITHOUT U. S. STAMPS ARE CHECKED HERE

United States Treasury Department agents were in Gettysburg today conducting a check of cars which do not display the $5 Federal motor vehicle use tax stamp, and by 2 o'clock this afternoon had served summonses on a large number of motorists.

Led by J. N. Garrety, chief of the York office of the Department of Internal Revenue, at least six deputy collectors combed the streets, alleys and parking lots of the town in search for violators.

The agents made a survey Monday in Littlestown and today were covering other parts of the county in addition to working in Gettysburg. Further checks will be made throughout the county in the future it was stated.

Stop F. O. Sales
"We're going to continue to check until we can't find a single car without a stamp," Garrety said.

Persons receiving summonses were ordered to appear at the office of Deputy Collector of Revenue Thomas McSherry, at the post office between 10 o'clock this morning and 7 o'clock this evening.

Car stamp sales at the post office were halted this morning at 11 o'clock by the Treasury agents, and Garrety was making all sales in McSherry's office.

Garrety would release no figures as to stamp sales or summonses issued but said the number of each was "running up to expectations." Post office employees said today there had been a heavy demand this morning with at least 25 calls. All prospective purchasers were referred to the Internal Revenue office on the second floor.

McSherry will be in his office from 9 o'clock Wednesday morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon to handle the summons cases. Garrety said that persons not answering a summons would be dealt with through the office of the United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue in Washington.

Among the cars receiving the white notice from the Treasury Department today was the borough police car which was parked on Baltimore street. The borough car is exempt, however, from payment of the tax. All vehicles owned and operated by agents of the Federal, state and municipal governments are released from the tax stamps. Borough Officer Lloyd Wisler turned the summons over to Burgess Fred W. Pfeiffer at noon today.

Corporal Keller Wounded Abroad

Albert Keller, Gettysburg R. 5, today received a telegram from the War Department, informing him that his son Cpl. Ludwig L. Keller, 29, had been slightly wounded in France. No other details were given. Corporal Keller has been in service more than three years, leaving Gettysburg with one of the first contingents of inductees early in 1941. He has been overseas over a year. He was serving with a tank destroyer outfit the last time his father heard from him on August 19.

The wounded soldier was a former before his induction into service. His wife was the former Miss Elsie Promeyer, of Bonneauville.

Americans Within 70 Miles Of Border

By JAMES M. LONG
Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 29 (AP)—Swiftly advancing American troops captured historic Chateau-Thierry and Soissons today in whirlwind advances which carried them over French soil hallowed by their fathers' blood to within 70 miles of Belgium and a scant hundred from the German frontier.

Fighting on ground where the men of 1918 routed the Germans in the second battle of the Marne, the GI's of 1914 swept through Chateau-Thierry and raced northward 25 miles into Soissons in a thrust which was rapidly flanking the whole Pas De Calais department where the Germans launch their robot bombs. A new and more deadly trap might be forming around the remnants of the German Seventh Army, broken in Normandy, and the 15th Army in Pas De Calais.

At Soissons, where the old first and second divisions helped their Allies win one of the closing battles of the last war, the Americans were 55 miles north-east of Paris.

Nearing Verdun
Parallel columns driving north reached the Fismes area 16 miles east of Soissons and reached the Upper Marne at two places between Chalons and Vitry.

Troops were less than 50 miles from Verdun where a younger Marshal Pétain near the start of the last war turned the Germans back with resistance congealed in the slogan: "They shall not pass."

The Americans and British bridgeheads on the Seine northwest of Paris were welded into a solid front of 25 to 30 miles when the troops which crossed at Mantos and Verdon joined hands. The assault front pushed 11 miles north won control of a triangular region north of which the fleeing Germans are being pressed against the Americans just above Montclair, some 45 miles from Avignon.

The flying column under the command of Brig. Gen. Frederic Buder which reached the Montclair area Friday, after inflicting wholesale punishment on at least one force of 15,000 German troops, killing many and possibly knocking out the remainder, continued to spread out through the entire region.

Reports from there said roads were strewn with destroyed German transport and other vehicles. American forces on the eastern

Soviets Dig Deeper Into Balkan Fronts

By EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, Aug. 29 (AP)—Swift Russian drives through Romania approached the great oil center of Ploesti and Bucharest today as one plumed poured across a 15-mile stretch of the Danube and another linked 15 miles north, Hungarian-held Transylvania.

Hungarian and German troops were reported massing in Transylvania, the 16,542 square mile section of Romania which Hitler gave to Hungary in 1940. The sudden Russian push through passes in the Carpathians gave the Red Army the good base town of Brest on a railroad and highway.

The German communists said the Russians, "rushing in from all sides," had driven into Buzau, 60 miles northeast of Ploesti and 60 miles from Bucharest.

The entire Danube delta was in Russian hands and troops which crossed the Danube on a wide front of the Seine almost to the Rouen-Paris highway.

Brilliant Gains
Canadians advanced within sight of Rezen, where Joan of Arc was tried and burned. The nearest Canucks were four and a half miles away.

The American triumphs at Chateau-Thierry and Soissons cracked the German-Aisne-Somme line and moved the Allies within 15 miles of the Cathedral of Reims 15th largest city in France.

The swift drive north was one of the most brilliant gains of a single day in the whole incredible battle record of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's high speed Third Army.

A German broadcast said the American advance had carried into the streets of Chalons.

Near Rocket Base
American armor, racing toward the Ardennes invasion route to Germany and flanking the Nazis' rocket bomb coast positions, surged across the Marne river at two places today, closing the German escape gap across northern France to 76 miles.

One spearhead plunged 16 miles northeast of Meaux to Cuviergnon. These U. S. Third Army units were within 10 miles of the forest of Compiègne where the First World War armistice was signed and where Adolf Hitler forced his terms on France in 1940. The strategic Aisne river was 16 miles north of this American force.

The second breaching of the Marne occurred 10 miles east of Meaux. Crossing on bridges captured at La Ferte-sous-Jouarre that force continued driving upstream to Chateau-Thierry, 13 miles away, where American troops won a historic victory on June 21, 1918.

The whole 85-mile Third Army assault area east of Paris was swelling north to within 20 miles of Epernay and Vitry—the back door of coastal flank late yesterday drove into Cagnes, 10 miles northeast of Cannes, and Venice, five miles inland due north of Cagnes—advances which placed them five miles from Nice and only 20 miles from the Italian frontier.

Thousands of German troops fell into Allied hands with the surrender of the final holdout enemy resistance in Marseille.

Surrender of the St. Mandrier garrison in the Toulon area came after the enemy coastal batteries were heavily bombed by French, British and American Naval vessels—including the French battleship Lorraine and the British battleship Ramillies.

Count von Chausen when the German demanded gasoline, ammunition and food for his hard-pressed corps.

275,000 Prisoners
Prisoners in the whirlwind Romanian campaign now in its second week approached 275,000 with the 11,000 caged yesterday.

The Second White Russian Army (copied the communications center of Ostrow-Mazowiecka, 50 miles northeast of Warsaw, as part of advances along a 21-mile sector of that front. The Russians approached within nine miles of the Narew river, the crossing of which would outflank Warsaw.

Establishment of a new bridgehead across the Vistula river only 30 miles south of Warsaw was reported by Daniel De Luce, Associated Press correspondent, in a dispatch from Lublin, Poland. De Luce said the both Russian and Polish troops took part.

ward on a 200-mile front from positions inside Transylvania west of the main Carpathian ridge to the Black Sea between captured Sulina and Constanta. Red Star reported the surrender of monocol Gen. Mikhail Boiko, commander of the 14th Romanian division, and said, to Verdun—and was 35 miles away from the First World War, sedge citadel of Reims. It was a mop-up on a sweeping scale across the scarred battlefields of some 30 years ago.

A Reuters dispatch from Third Army headquarters said Vitry had been captured. This would put the Americans across the Upper Marne, 100 miles east of Paris and a little over 50 miles from the frontier of the stolen French province of Lorraine which the Germans claimed as the boundary of the greater Reich.

Fairfield Collects Salvage This Week

The salvage committee of the Fairfield fire company announced today that its monthly collection of salvage in the Fairfield section will be made Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Outlying communities and rural districts will be canvassed on Wednesday while Fairfield Station and Fairfield borough will be covered Thursday. Residents are asked to have their scrap ready for the firemen. A special appeal is being made for waste paper in this week's drive.

George Ford, Hunterstown; Roger Ecker, Gettysburg, and George Zeigler, East Berlin, were discharged as patients.

STATE CHESS TOURNAMENT OPENS HERE SATURDAY

Gettysburg plays host to the sixth annual Pennsylvania State Chess Federation Tournament over the week-end. This is the first time this organization has selected Gettysburg for its convention city.

There will be one brief business session at one o'clock next Saturday afternoon in the Hotel Gettysburg annex followed by 28 hours of tournament chess extending through Labor Day.

The tournament this year, according to J. W. Stevenson, of Orrtanna, secretary-treasurer of the federation, "will be the largest and best ever held. There will be more players competing than at any other previous tournament, and the finest chess players in the state will be here."

William M. Byland, of Pittsburgh, is president of the federation. D. R. Webb, of Waynesboro, is vice president.

Tournament Director

George Koltanowski, of New York, former world's champion blindfolded player, will be the tournament director.

Some of the star players who will compete in the tournament here include: T. C. Gutekunst, of Allentown, 1943 champion; A. Di Camillo, Philadelphia city champion; C. S. Shine, of Shippensburg, who placed fourth in last year's tournament; Robert Reel, Pittsburgh; T. A. Barackel, Philadelphia; A. W. Fry, Hazelton; Henry Hesse, of Bethlehem, former state champion; R. Kneerlam, of Reading; P. B. Driver, Ridley Park; I. Ash, of Philadelphia, and about forty others.

Each player in the tournament must play seven games.

The tournament will be held in the Hotel Gettysburg Annex and the public is invited. There is no admission. Visitors may walk around the tables to watch the play but will not be permitted to talk or comment on the progress of the game. "Absolute quiet" will be the order throughout the tournament.

Tourney Schedule

After the brief business session Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, tournament play will begin and continue until six o'clock. Play will continue as follows:

Saturday evening: 8 p. m. to midnight.

Sunday: 8 a. m. to noon; 2 p. m. to 5 p. m.

BAN AFFECTS ALL UNDER 17

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County Medical Director, today clarified a misunderstanding as to the age of children who are affected by the health ban.

"Any person who is not 17 years of age is affected by the health ban. A 16 year old youngster or even one approaching 17 is directly affected and must adhere to the health rules," Doctor Crist said.

The Rev. Fr. Cyril J. Alwein, athletic director at Delone high school, McSherrystown, reporting on the football camp of Delone high at Buchanan Valley, told a Times reporter this afternoon:

"We have about 15 or 16 boys in camp. Everyone is 17 years old or better."

Doctor Crist visited the Delone camp this morning and said he had been advised that the boys were all over the health ban age limit.

Prof. Guile W. Lefever, supervising principal at Gettysburg high school, said today there are but seven members of the Maroon football squad over 17 years of age and for that reason practice drills for the squad will be postponed until the ban is lifted.

SCHOOLS OPEN SEPT. 11 UNLESS POLIO SPREADS

Schools in Gettysburg and Adams county will open for the 1944-45 term on Monday, September 11. "If there are no new cases of infantile paralysis or meningitis" between now and that date, Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county medical director, announced today.

"However, if one or more new cases of those diseases develop before September 11 the opening of all schools throughout the county will be postponed another two weeks," Doctor Crist said.

"The most flagrant violators of the health ban are the mothers," the county medical director said. "For some unknown reason they seem to take this serious situation lightly and many of them are openly violating the health rules."

Will Prosecute

"Unless they desist from this practice I propose to take steps to prosecute them. The health ban must be obeyed by everybody. No one is exempt. The strict enforcement is primarily to protect our children and if anyone is not considerate enough to cooperate with the rest of the people then they will be prosecuted."

"Our objective in this crisis is to prevent the further spread of these horrible diseases. It is the duty of every individual to cooperate to the fullest extent. Mothers must keep their children home. They dare not congregate. This is the last warning I am going to issue. Any further violations will be prosecuted."

Placards were scheduled to be distributed today throughout the town warning children against health ban violations. The notices post a prohibition rule against children entering certain places.

Covers 50 Counties

Harrisburg, Aug. 29 (AP)—Pennsylvania's infantile paralysis outbreak spread over 50 counties today with the Health Department listing a state-wide total of 548 cases—far less than the unofficial total.

Of the new cases reported, two came from heretofore immune Perry county while Harrisburg health authorities admitted to a hospital Dauphin county's first suspected victim of the disease.

Adams county schools were ordered to be kept closed until health authorities give permission for them to open. Last week all 16-year-olds were barred from theatres, churches and Sunday schools.

Reports from other areas listed: Philadelphia, 147 cases, not including 11 unconfirmed; Pittsburgh, 131 cases, and Johnstown, 50 cases.

IMPORTANCE OF COUNTY TIMBER CITED TO LIONS

Selective cutting and unit selling of timber have netted some Adams county farmers a return of from 60 cents to $3.50 an hour for labor spent in farm woodlots in "harvesting the annual crop" of timber, D. E. Hess, farm forester for the county office of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, told members of the Gettysburg Lions club in a talk Monday evening.

Speaking before the weekly dinner meeting of the service club of which he is a member, Mr. Hess told what new tools and new markets may mean—and are already meaning—for timberland owners throughout the nation as well as the owners of 40,000 acres of woodland in Adams county.

Predicts Expansion

"I look for a great expansion in the use of wood, wood products, cellulose products and plastics after the war," he declared as he pointed out the many new uses for wood which in some instances has been found to "cost less, weigh less, have more strength and be just as fire resistant as metals."

Disclosing that only recently have sawmill men in this area begun to scale logs and purchase timber by the thousand board feet instead of by the tract, he also revealed that four sawmill operators in this section now are using power saws to fell and cut up trees. Exploding wedges are another time and labor

Pfc. Theron J. Little, 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Little, Gettysburg R. 5, was seriously wounded in action in France on August 12, his parents have been notified by telegram from the War Department.

Pfc. Little, who served in the infantry, had been overseas for about a year. He was inducted December 1, 1942, and took his basic training at Camp Van Dorn, Miss. Before induction he was employed at the L. E. Beaudin shoe factory in Hanover.

He is one of four sons in the Little family who have entered the armed forces. Corp. Wilbur John Little is stationed in Mississippi and S. C. Norman Little is on duty in the South Pacific. A third brother, Raymond, also served in the Navy but has received a medical discharge.

The Littles reside near Bonneauville south of the Gettysburg-Hanover highway.

CARS WITHOUT U. S. STAMPS ARE CHECKED HERE

United States Treasury Department agents were in Gettysburg today conducting a check of cars which do not display the $5 Federal motor vehicle use tax stamp, and by 2 o'clock this afternoon had served summonses on a large number of motorists.

Led by J. N. Garrety, chief of the York office of the Department of Internal Revenue, at least six deputy collectors combed the streets, alleys and parking lots of the town in search for violators.

The agents made a survey Monday in Littlestown and today were covering other parts of the county in addition to working in Gettysburg. Further checks will be made throughout the county in the future, it was stated.

Stop P. O. Sales

"We're going to continue to check until we can't find a single car without a stamp," Garrety said.

Persons receiving summonses were ordered to appear at the office of Deputy Collector of Revenue Thomas McSherry, at the post office between 10 o'clock this morning and 7 o'clock this evening.

Car stamp sales at the post office were halted this morning at 11 o'clock by the Treasury agents, and Garrety was making all sales in McSherry's office.

Garrety would release no figures as to stamp sales or summonses issued but said the number of each was "running up to expectations." Post office employees said today there had been a heavy demand this morning with at least 25 calls. All prospective purchasers were referred to the Internal Revenue office on the second floor.

McSherry will be in his office from 9 o'clock Wednesday morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon to handle the summons cases. Garrety said that persons not answering a summons would be dealt with through the office of the United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue in Washington.

Among the cars receiving the white notice from the Treasury Department today was the borough police car which was parked on Baltimore street. The borough car is exempt, however, from payment of the tax. All vehicles owned and operated by agents of the Federal, state and municipal governments are released from the tax stamps. Borough Officer Lloyd Wisler turned the summons over to Burgess Fred W. Pfeiffer at noon today.

Corporal Keller Wounded Abroad

Albert Keller, Gettysburg R. 4, today received a telegram from the War Department informing him that his son Cpl. Ludwig L. Keller, 29, has been slightly wounded in France. No other details were given.

Corporal Keller has been in service more than three years, leaving Gettysburg with one of the first contingents of inductees early in 1941. He has been overseas over a year. He was serving with a tank destroyer outfit the last time his father heard from him on August 19.

The wounded soldier was a farmer before his induction into service. His wife was the former Miss Elsie Promeyer, of Bonneauville. They have no children. Corporal Keller formerly worked on the Roy Weaver farm, Harrisburg road.

Americans Within 70 Miles Of Border

By JAMES M. LONG

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 29 (AP)—Swiftly advancing American troops captured historic Chateau-Thierry and Soissons today in whirlwind advances which carried them over French soil hallowed by their fathers' blood to within 70 miles of Belgium and a scant hundred from the German frontier.

Fighting on ground where the men of 1918 routed the Germans in the second battle of the Marne, the G.I.'s of 1944 swept through Chateau-Thierry and raced northward 25 miles into Soissons in a thrust which was rapidly flanking the whole Pas De Calais department where the Germans launch their robot bombs. A new and more deadly trap might be forming around the remnants of the German Seventh Army, broken in Normandy, and the 15th Army in Pas De Calais.

At Soissons, where the old first and second divisions helped their Allies win one of the closing battles of the last war, the Americans were 55 miles north-east of Paris.

Nearing Verdun
Parallel columns driving north reached the Fismes area 16 miles east of Soissons and reached the Upper Marne at two places between Châlons and Vitry.

Troops were less than 50 miles from Verdun where a younger Marshal Petain near the start of the last war turned the Germans back with resistance congealed in the slogan: "They shall not pass."

The Americans and British bridgeheads on the Seine northwest of Paris were wedged into a solid front of 25 to 30 miles when the troops which crossed at Mantes and Vernon joined hands. The assault front pushed 11 miles north of the Seine almost to the Rouen-Paris highway.

Brilliant Gains

Canadians advanced within sight of Rouen, where Joan of Arc was tried and burned. The nearest Canucks were four and a half miles away.

The American triumphs at Chateau-Thierry and Soissons cracked the German-Aisne-Somme line and moved the Allies within 15 miles of the Cathedral of Reims 15th largest city in France.

The swift drive north was one of the most brilliant gains of a single day in the whole incredible battle record of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's high speed Third Army.

(A German broadcast said the American advance had carried into the streets of Châlons.)

Near Rocket Base
American armor, racing toward the Ardennes invasion route to Germany and flanking the Nazis' rocket bomb coast positions, surged across the Marne river at two places today, closing the German escape gap across northern France to 76 miles.

One spearhead plunged 16 miles northeast of Meaux to Cuvignone. These U. S. Third Army units were within 10 miles of the forest of Compiègne where the First World War armistice was signed and where Adolf Hitler forced his terms on France in 1940. The strategic Aisne river was 16 miles north of this American force.

The second breaching of the Marne occurred 10 miles east of Meaux. Crossing on bridges captured at La Ferte-sous-Jouarre that force continued driving upstream to Chateau-Thierry, 13 miles away, where American troops won a historic victory on June 21, 1918.

The whole 85-mile Third Army assault area east of Paris was swinging north to within 20 miles of Epernay and Vitry—the back door to control of a triangular region north of which the fleeing Germans are being pressed against the Americans just above Montellmar, some 45 miles from Avignon.

The flying column under the command of Brig. Gen. Frederic Butler which reached the Montellmar area Friday, after inflicting wholesale punishment on at least one force of 15,000 German troops, killing many and possibly knocking out the remainder, continued to spread out through the entire region.

Reports from there said roads were strewn with destroyed German transport and other vehicles.

American forces on the eastern flotilla on the Danube and each hour, new ships were arriving on the Danube and Black Sea coast behind Russian lines, flying the Red flag.

Already the Ploesti oil field derricks, north of the city, were in sight of Russian troops. Cossacks, tanks and motorized infantry on the plains before the Romania capital ranged close to the city of 650,000, feeling out German resistance.

Other Russians deep in capitulated Romania edged within 45 miles of Rnasoz, 12th city of the kingdom with 62,000 people, and seriously menaced any chance the Germans might have for a stand.

The Red Army was moving forward on a 200-mile front from positions inside Transylvania west of the main Carpathian ridge to the Black Sea between captured Sulina and Constanta. Red Star reported the surrender of monocol Gen. Makhai Boiko, commander of the 14th Romanian division, and said, "of course Boiko's division is not yet in a state for fighting, but the general expressed his wish to reform the division and fight against the Germans." The commander was quoted as saying he deserted Gen.

Fairfield Collects Salvage This Week

The salvage committee of the Fairfield fire company announced today that its monthly collection of salvage in the Fairfield section will be made Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Outlying communities and rural districts will be canvassed on Wednesday while Fairfield Station and Fairfield borough will be covered Thursday. Residents are asked to have their scrap ready for the firemen. A special appeal is being made for waste paper in this week's drive.

Yankee Tank Destroyers Hit Nazi Hangars, Burn Airplanes

By HAL BOYLE
Orleans, France, Aug. 20 (Delayed) (AP)—It is a rare day on the battlefield when armored units bag enemy planes, but when the Americans were cleaning up around Orleans our tank destroyers came up so quickly on one airfield a few miles north of the town they caught a bunch of German planes sitting on the ground.

Some of the tank destroyers crashed right through hangar buildings and ran right over the planes, crushing them. Other units of the column just cut loose with their guns and began whanging their shells into the planes. It took only a few seconds to turn them all into bonfires.

Pfc Thurman McGee from Eldorado, Ill., said "Our boys really shot the hell out of them."

Surprise Fliers
Most of the German fliers, he related, were caught completely by surprise.

"They took off and ran to the woods," he said, but "we caught them. Those fliers were so used to riding in airplanes they didn't want to hoof it very far and most of them gave up pretty easily."

"One bunch of 40 surrendered to one of our 40-mm ack ack gun crews. They threw away their arms and crawled out of the woods. They don't like to fight much on the ground."

One American tank did another good job on three trucks loaded with Jerries outside Orleans. They just blew them to pieces. We learned later that the Germans were coming to Orleans from Paris on a three-day turlough.

McGee and two of his friends, Sgt. Richard Rossman, of Racine, Wis., and Pvt. Cleo Miles, Davis City, Iowa, piled out plates of unbreakable glass from the cockpits of several of the wrecked enemy planes. These are among the most sought after items of soldier souvenir hunters.

Leave 5,000 Bombs
There is always a race between the Air Corps and ground troops to get to captured air fields to strip enemy planes of equipment.

"If you don't get issued what you want in the Army you have got to go out and find it or make it," declared Rossman.

"I wish I could find a portable foxhole; I get tired of digging," he added.

After inspecting the wrecked field and its equipment Lt. Parker Frederick, of Midvale, N. J., an aviation engineer, said the Germans had abandoned 5,000 unused bombs.

McGee said it was a shame to waste "all those nice bombs" and suggested that "we ought to take them up and dump them on Hitler in Berlin."

C. C. DIRECTORS URGE CLOSING ON VICTORY DAY

The board of directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, at a regular meeting Monday evening adopted a resolution suggesting a program of observance to be followed in Gettysburg when the war in Europe is over.

The resolution follows:
If official notification of V-Day comes before 2 p. m. on any week-day all business places will close immediately and remain closed until the following morning.

Should official notification come after 2 p. m. on any week-day all business places will close immediately and remain closed for the remainder of that day and the following day.

Ask Cooperation
Should official notification come after 2 p. m. on Friday all business places will close for the remainder of that day and open Saturday at 1 p. m.

Should official notification come on Sunday all business places will remain closed all day Monday.

The directors asked the cooperation of merchants in the above suggested program.

The regular monthly dinner-meeting of the Chamber will be held at the Hotel Gettysburg September 26.

Collect Scrap On Wednesday

With the emphasis again being put on the collection of waste paper, members of the Gettysburg fire company will make their annual canvass of the town for salvage materials Wednesday afternoon and evening beginning at 3 p. m.

Urged by state salvage campaign officials to make every effort to boost the tonnage of waste paper gathered here, the firemen are calling upon local residents to bundle and make available all of the old

JURY CONVICTS 2 DEFENDANTS IN COURT HERE

The August quarter session of criminal court recessed at noon today until 3 p. m. with a jury debating its decision in the case of Harry L. Scott, Freedom township farmer, charged with the malicious killing of a licensed dog. The jury had been out for more than two hours when court recessed.

The case currently on trial is that of Maurice Hillebride, Railroad street, charged with a serious offense and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, counts on which the defendant originally had pleaded guilty but later entered pleas of "not guilty" to stand jury trial.

Two Are Convicted

Convene At 3 P. M.

The Scott case was completed Monday afternoon with the exception of the charge to the jury which was given this morning at 9:30 o'clock. The jury retired at 9:45 a. m. If a verdict is reached before court re-convenes at 3 o'clock this afternoon, it will be sealed and read when court opens.

Frank L. Mumper, Jr., Gettysburg, charged that Scott shot Mumper's dog while the animal lay under porch steps at the Mumper cottage along Marsh creek, less than a mile from the Scott property. An examination on the night of the shooting, June 3, showed the animal was hit by only one charge, Mumper testified. Scott said he shot at and hit the dog four times.

Scott said the first wound was inflicted while Mumper's dog chased Scott's chickens. Scott said he followed the dog home and shot it two more times en route before he delivered the fatal charge at the Mumper cottage. Mumper said the dog was licensed. Mrs. Scott testified briefly in support of her husband's testimony.

Explains Circumstances

In the court charge this morning Judge W. C. Sheely said it might possibly be considered cruelty to animals to cripple a dog and allow it to creep off and die of its wounds. The court explained the circumstances under which Scott might have been justified in pursuing the dog to "put an end to its suffering."

CITES FROZEN FOODS' FUTURE

Frozen foods may soon change the eating habits of the nation, Terry Mitchell, advertising manager of the Frick company at Waynesboro, told members of the Gettysburg Rotary club Monday evening in a talk in which he declared the coming era may find refrigeration as important as the generation of heat was in the last century.

Speaking on "The Era of Refrigeration," Mr. Mitchell told in a general way of the work his company is doing in building refrigerator units for military use. A battleship uses from 15 to 25 large refrigeration units, he stated. "One huge 5,000-ton refrigeration unit has a cooling effect equal to that of the melting of 20 million tons of ice in 24 hours," he declared.

He said artificial refrigeration has attained a temperature of 459.4 degrees below zero, a fraction of a degree from "absolute zero" in the scientific world.

Mr. Mitchell pointed out the economic possibilities of refrigeration when he stated that one large hotel reduced its employees by 24 by using a great proportion of frozen foods.

President Walter Africa presided at the meeting which was held at the YWCA building with 38 members and guests in attendance.

Charles C. Smith, another representative of the Frick company, was an additional guest.

Closed Wednesday and Thursday to arrange for fall showing Friday and Saturday, Virginia M. Myers, Baltimore St.

Hold Memorial Services Tonight

Memorial services for Cpl. Horace M. Bushman, 27, first Gettysburgian to lose his life in the invasion of France, will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Robert M. Hunt, pastor, will use as his sermon, "The Victory of Faith." Special music has been arranged.

Members of the Gettysburg fire company will attend the services in uniform and will occupy a special section of pews. Employees of The Gettysburg Times, fellow-workers with the deceased, will occupy another special section.

The services are open to the public.

STATE CHESS TOURNAMENT OPENS HERE SATURDAY

Gettysburg plays host to the sixth annual Pennsylvania State Chess Federation Tournament over the week-end. This is the first time this organization has selected Gettysburg for its convention city.

There will be one brief business session at one o'clock next Saturday afternoon in the Hotel Gettysburg annex followed by 28 hours of tournament chess extending through Labor Day.

The tournament this year, according to J. W. Stevenson, of Oortanna, secretary-treasurer of the federation, "will be the largest and best ever held. There will be more players competing than at any other previous tournament, and the finest chess players in the state will be here."

SCHOOLS OPEN SEPT. 11 UNLESS POLIO SPREADS

Covers 50 Counties

Harrisburg, Aug. 29 (AP)—Pennsylvania's infantile paralysis outbreak spread over 50 counties today with the Health Department listing a state-wide total of 548 cases—far less than the unofficial total.

Of the new cases reported, two came from heretofore immune Perry county while Harrisburg health authorities admitted to a hospital Dauphin county's first suspected victim of the disease.

Adams county schools were ordered to be kept closed until health authorities give permission for them to open. Last week all 16-year-olds were barred from theatres, churches and Sunday schools.

Reports from other areas listed: Philadelphia, 147 cases, not including 11 unconfirmed; Pittsburgh, 131 cases, and Johnstown, 50 cases.

IMPORTANCE OF COUNTY TIMBER CITED TO LIONS

Selective cutting and unit selling of timber have netted some Adams county farmers a return of from 60 cents to $3.50 an hour for labor spent in farm woodlots in "harvesting the annual crop" of timber. D. E. Hess, farm forester for the county office of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, told members of the Gettysburg Lions club in a talk Monday evening.

Speaking before the weekly dinner meeting of the service club of which he is a member, Mr. Hess told what new tools and new markets may mean—and are already meaning—for timberland owners throughout the nation as well as the owners of 40,000 acres of woodland in Adams county.

Predicts Expansion

"I look for a great expansion in the use of wood, wood products, cellulose products and plastics after the war," he declared as he pointed out the many new uses for wood which in some instances has been found to "cost less, weigh less, have more strength and be just as fire resistant as metals."

Disclosing that only recently have sawmill men in this area begun to scale logs and purchase timber by the thousand board feet instead of by the tract, he also revealed that four sawmill operators in this section now are using power saws to fell and cut up trees. Exploding wedges are another time and labor

Pfc. Theron J. Little, 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Little, Gettysburg R. 5, was seriously wounded in action in France on August 12, his parents have been notified by telegram from the War department.

Pfc. Little, who served in the infantry, had been overseas for about a year. He was inducted December 1, 1942, and took his basic training at Camp Van Dorn, Miss. Before induction he was employed at the L. E. Beaudin shoe factory in Hanover.

He is one of four sons in the Little family who have entered the armed forces. Corp. Wilbur John Little is stationed in Mississippi and S. 2-c Norman Little is on duty in the South Pacific. A third brother, Raymond, also served in the Navy but has received a medical discharge.

The Littles reside near Bonneauville south of the Gettysburg-Hanover highway.

CARS WITHOUT U. S. STAMPS ARE CHECKED HERE

United States Treasury Department agents were in Gettysburg today conducting a check of cars which do not display the $5 Federal motor vehicle use tax stamp, and by 2 o'clock this afternoon had served summonses on a large number of motorists.

Led by J. N. Garrety, chief of the York office of the Department of Internal Revenue, at least six deputy collectors combed the streets, alleys and parking lots of the town in search for violators.

The agents made a survey Monday in Littlestown and today were covering other parts of the county in addition to working in Gettysburg. Further checks will be made throughout the county in the future, it was stated.

Stop P. O. Sales

"We're going to continue to check until we can't find a single car without a stamp," Garrety said.

Persons receiving summonses were ordered to appear at the office of Deputy Collector of Revenue Thomas McSherry, at the post office between 10 o'clock this morning and 7 o'clock this evening.

Car stamp sales at the post office were halted this morning at 11 o'clock by the Treasury agents, and Garrety was making all sales in McSherry's office.

Garrety would release no figures as to stamp sales or summonses issued but said the number of each was "running up to expectations." Post office employees said today there had been a heavy demand this morning with at least 25 calls. All prospective purchasers were referred to the Internal Revenue office on the second floor.

McSherry will be in his office from 9 o'clock Wednesday morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon to handle the summons cases. Garrety said that persons not answering a summons would be dealt with through the office of the United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue in Washington.

Among the cars receiving the white notice from the Treasury Department today was the borough police car which was parked on Baltimore street. The borough car is exempt, however, from payment of the tax. All vehicles owned and operated by agents of the Federal, state and municipal governments are released from the tax stamps. Borough Officer Lloyd Wisler freed the summons over to Burgess Tred W. Pfeffer at noon today.

Corporal Keller Wounded Abroad

Albert Keller, Gettysburg R. 4, today received a telegram from the War Department informing him that his son Cpl. Ludwig L. Keller, 29, has been slightly wounded in France. No other details were given.

Corporal Keller has been in service more than three years, leaving Gettysburg with one of the first contingents of inductees early in 1941. He has been overseas over a year. He was serving with a tank destroyer outfit the last time his father heard from him on August 19.

The wounded soldier was a farmer before his induction into service. His wife was the former Miss Elsie Promeyer, of Bonneauville. They have no children. Corporal Keller formerly worked on the Roy Weaver farm, Harrisburg road.

For quick clearance, summer dresses reduced to $2.00 and $4.00. Sizes 9 to 16. 11 to 44. Anne Brier Specialty Shop.

Americans Within 70 Miles Of Border

By JAMES M. LONG

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 29 (AP)—Swiftly advancing American troops captured historic Chateau-Thierry and Soissons today in whirlwind advances which carried them over French soil hallowed by their fathers' blood to within 70 miles of Belgium and a scant hundred from the German frontier.

Fighting on ground where the men of 1918 routed the Germans in the second battle of the Marne, the GIs of 1944 swept through Chateau-Thierry and raced northward 25 miles into Soissons in a thrust which was rapidly flanking the whole Pas De Calais department where the Germans launch their robot bombs. A new and more deadly trap might be forming around the remnants of the German Seventh Army, broken in Normandy, and the 15th Army in Pas De Calais.

At Soissons, where the old first and second divisions helped their Allies win one of the closing battles of the last war, the Americans were 55 miles north-east of Paris.

Nearing Verdun
Parallel columns driving north reached the Fismes area 16 miles east of Soissons and reached the Upper Marne at two places between Chalons and Vitry.

Troops were less than 50 miles from Verdun where a younger Marshal Petain near the start of the last war turned the Germans back with resistance congealed in the slogan: "They shall not pass."

The Americans and British bridgeheads on the Seine northwest of Paris were welded into a solid front of 25 to 30 miles when the troops which crossed at Mantes and Vernon joined hands. The assault front pushed 11 miles north of the Seine almost to the Rouen-Paris highway.

Brilliant Gains
Canadians advanced within sight of Rouen, where Joan of Arc was tried and burned. The nearest Canucks were four and a half miles away.

The American triumphs at Chateau-Thierry and Soissons cracked the German-Aisne-Somme line and moved the Allies within 15 miles of the Cathedral of Reims 15th largest city in France.

The swift drive north was one of the most brilliant gains of a single day in the whole incredible battle record of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's high speed Third Army.

(A German broadcast said the American advance had carried into the streets of Chalons.)

Near Rocket Base
American armor, racing toward the Ardennes invasion route to Germany and flanking the Nazi rocket bomb coast positions, surged across the Marne river at two places today, closing the German escape gap across northern France to 76 miles.

One spearhead plunged 16 miles northeast of Meaux to Cuvignot. These U. S. Third Army units were within 10 miles of the forest of Compiègne where the First World War armistice was signed and where Adolf Hitler forced his terms on France in 1940. The strategic Aisne river was 16 miles north of this American force.

The second breaching of the Marne occurred 10 miles east of Meaux. Crossing on bridges captured at La Perle-sous-Jouarre that force continued driving upstream to Chateau-Thierry, 13 miles away, where American troops won a historic victory on June 21, 1918.

The whole 85-mile Third Army assault area east of Paris was swinging north to within 20 miles of Epervain and Vitry—the back door won control of a triangular region north of which the fleeing Germans are being pressed against the Americans just above Montellimar, some 45 miles from Avignon.

The flying column under the command of Brig. Gen. Frederic Butler which reached the Montellimar area Friday, after inflicting wholesale punishment on at least one force of 15,000 German troops, killing many and possibly knocking out the remainder, continued to spread out through the entire region.

Reports from there said roads were strewn with destroyed German transport and other vehicles.

American forces on the eastern flotilla on the Danube and each hour, new ships were arriving on the Danube and Black Sea coast behind Russian lines, flying the Red flag.

Already the Ploesti oil field derricks, north of the city, were in sight of Russian troops. Cossacks, tanks and motorized infantry on the plains before the Romania capital ranged close to the city of 650,000, feeling out German resistance.

Other Russians deep in capitulation Romania edged within 45 miles of Nrasov, 12th city of the kingdom with 62,000 people, and seriously menaced any chance the Germans might have for a stand.

The Red Army was moving forward on a 200-mile front from positions inside Transylvania west of the main Carpathian ridge to the Black Sea between captured Sulina and Constanta. Red Star reported the surrender of monocolled Gen. Makhai Boiko, commander of the 14th Romanian division, and said, "Of course Boiko's division is not yet in a state for fighting, but the general expressed his wish to reform the division and fight against the Germans." The commander was quoted as saying he deserted Comto Verdun—and was 35 miles away from the First World War, siege citadel of Reims. It was a mop-up on a sweeping scale across the scarred battlefields of some 30 years ago.

A Reuters dispatch from Third Army headquarters said Vitry had been captured. This would put the Americans across the Upper Marne, 100 miles east of Paris and a little over 50 miles from the frontier of the stolen French province of Lorraine which the Germans claimed as the boundary of the Reich.

Fairfield Collects Salvage This Week

The salvage committee of the Fairfield fire company announced today that its monthly collection of salvage in the Fairfield section will be made Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Outlying communities and rural districts will be canvassed on Wednesday while Fairfield Station and Fairfield borough will be covered Thursday. Residents are asked to have their scrap ready for the firemen. A special appeal is being made for waste paper in this week's drive.

Joanna Uplinger, aged about two years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Uplinger, East Berlin, was admitted to the Warner hospital Monday evening following a fall in which she suffered a fractured left hip. She was discharged today.

George Ford, Hunterstown; Roger Ecker, Gettysburg, and George Zeigler, East Berlin, were discharged as patients.

Nazi 19th Army Is Trapped In France

By GEORGE TUCKER

Rome, Aug. 29 (AP)—French troops of the Seventh Army, in sweeps west of the Rhone in southern France, reached Uzès and drove through Nîmes today, forming a solid southern buffer to help wipe out the battered German 19th Army already cut off by an American surprise thrust far to the north.

From Nîmes, a city of 93,758 population 14 miles beyond the Rhone, one French column turned southwest along the coast in a drive toward the French-Spanish border. Other French columns extending west and northwest of Avignon for at least 24 miles to the Uzès area coastal flank late yesterday drove into Cannes, 10 miles northeast of Cannes, and Venice, five miles inland due north of Cannes—advances which placed them five miles from Nice and only 20 miles from the Italian frontier.

Thousands of German troops fell into Allied hands with the surrender of the final holdout enemy resistance in Marseille.

Surrender of the St. Mandrier garrison in the Toulon area came after the enemy coastal batteries were heavily bombed by French, British and American Naval vessels—including the French battleship Lorraine and the British battleship Ramillies.

Count von Chulsen when the German demanded gasoline, ammunition and food for his hard-pressed corps.

275,000 Prisoners
Prisoners in the whirlwind Romanian campaign now in its second week approached 275,000 with the 11,000 caged yesterday.

The Second White Russian Army toppled the communications center of Ostrow-Mazowiecka, 50 miles northeast of Warsaw, as part of advances along a 21-mile sector of that front. The Russians approached within nine miles of the Narew river, the crossing of which would outflank Warsaw.

Establishment of a new bridgehead across the Vistula river only 30 miles south of Warsaw was reported by Daniel De Luce, Associated Press correspondent, in a dispatch from Lublin, Poland. De Luce said both Russian and Polish troops took part.

De Luce quoted Col. Gen. Mihail Rola-Zymlerski, Polish commander in chief. The general said the Polish Army soon would be 500,000 strong with four classes of reservists now answering a call to the colors.

HITLER WILL FIGHT IF HE CAN GET MEN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

We are on the verge of the beaten Hitler's great retreat from western France to the defenses of his own frontier where he plans to fight just as long as he can find men who are willing to risk their lives for him.

Events have moved rapidly during the past few hours. Any chance the Germans may have had of holding the strategic line of the Meuse river have been nullified by General Patton's drive to the World War battlefield of Chateau-Thierry, halloped by the gallantry of our Doughboys of a generation ago, and his daring thrust fourteen miles northward from Meux on that river.

Threatens Flank

This move by the adventurous two-gun commander not only has cut the river, but it has decidedly increased the German danger of being flanked. Meantime westward toward the sea the Canadian-British forces have established another bridgehead across the Seine near the coast, thus increasing the very sure Allied grip on that river.

The Seine and the Meuse form a natural defensive barrier across northern France, and it had been the obvious intention of the Hitlerites to make a strong stand there, since this position protects their all-important channel defenses to the north and their gateway through Belgium to the Reich. Now they will have to pull out quickly or suffer another disaster such as has been visited on them in the battle of Normandy.

Actually it will be surprising if the Germans aren't already in the process of withdrawing. Their probable intention is to make their next big defense on the Somme river in the northern tip of France, and perhaps on the Aisne, which forms a more or less continuous front with the Somme. The valleys of both these streams were the scene of bloody fighting in the last war.

Under Pressure

Whether the Germans will be able to pull up their socks on the Somme is a matter of some question. They are under increasing pressure from the great and exceedingly mobile Allied forces which are bent on trapping the Nazis against the coast of the English channel. Moreover, and this shouldn't be overlooked, the Allied Air forces are taking a terrific toll from all concentrations of enemy troops and from forces moving on the roads.

This aerial slaughter of men, destruction of equipment, and the consequent disorganization in Nazi ranks certainly will make it difficult for them to reform for a strong stand on the Somme. However, they must make the effort in order to protect their robot-bomb launching grounds in the Pas de Calais area, and the ports of Calais and Boulogne only about 20 miles from the English coast.

While the Allied troops have thus been energetically building the scaffold on which to hang Herr Hitler, our high command seems to have given another display of acumen in placing the responsibility for the security of Paris in the hands of the French themselves. There still is a certain amount of disorder in the capital and we shall avoid friction by leaving it to the French military to deal with. The situation is such that display of armed authority by foreigners might increase the difficulty.

Palbearers were Samuel Serff, Stanton House, Albert Cardenti, Joseph Smith, Lawrence E. Oyer and Howard Hartzell.

Military services were conducted by members of the Legion post at the graveside in Evergreen cemetery. The firing squad composed of members of the Minute Men county guard organization under the command of Captain C. Arthur Bream, included Sgt. George Naugle, Sgt. George Cushman, Sgt. Kermit Dearborn, Sgt. Chester Stoner, Sgt. Raymond Menges and Sgt. George Bushman.

Cpl. Eddie Moser, Minute Men bugler, blew taps over the grave.

Monday night at the Bender funeral home, four members of the Legion post acted as an honorary guard. They were Lawrence Sheeds, C. Arthur Bream, Wilbur Geiselman and Paul L. Spangler.

Court house offices closed at noon today and did not reopen until 3 o'clock so that court house officials could attend the rites.

Here And There
News Collected At Random

How to avoid unemployment after the war is a grim question that is foremost in everyone's mind. But job-creating industry and its problems, which are determining factors in the lives of all of us, is not receiving the public consideration it deserves.

Too many people still look upon industry as an entity unto itself. They feel that tax and legislative measures affecting industry are things for the "big guys" to worry about. They don't realize that when a corporation gets slapped in the face with crippling legislation or taxation, eventually the effect is reflected in its capacity to produce, and the little guy as well as the big guy gets hit between the eyes by loss of employment or restricted output.

Give industry a fair break and unemployment will get a knockout punch it will never forget.

The question is often asked in Gettysburg: "Why doesn't the Chamber of Commerce bring some more industries here?"

That question is easily answered. The Chamber of Commerce is and has been and will continue to make every effort to bring industries here. . . . industries that will really mean something . . . and not those always looking for a place to light.

The Chamber investigates every query. It investigates the financial status of a company seeking a new location, the number of employees it engages, the nature of its business and the facilities here to take care of it.

Practically every industry that wanted to come to Gettysburg has invariably asked for these things:

A cash outlay from the community of amounts ranging from $40,000 to more than $100,000.

Tax-free in the community for periods from five years and up.

A completely equipped building with floor space ranging from 50,000 square feet and up.

Who's going to put up the money for a new industry?

Where are you going to find a vacant building to accommodate such an industry?

If the industry is financially sound, worth-while and deserving why doesn't the industry finance its own expansion?

Yes, we can use industries in Gettysburg, but the kind of industries we want are those that will mean something to the community.

We have fine industries in Gettysburg and it might be well to give them some consideration before we consider financing a new project or one that could not make it a go in some other community.

We are not going to be suckers for anyone.

HITLER WILL FIGHT IF HE CAN GET MEN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

We are on the verge of the beaten Hitler's great retreat from western France to the defenses of his own frontier where he plans to fight just as long as he can find men who are willing to risk their lives for him.

Events have moved rapidly during the past few hours. Any chance the Germans may have had of holding the strategic line of the Marne river have been nullified by General Patton's drive to the World War battlefield of Chateau-Thierry, hallowed by the gallantry of our Doughboys of a generation ago, and his daring thrust fourteen miles northward from Meux on that river.

Threatens Flank

This move by the adventurous two-gun commander not only has cut the river, but it has decidedly increased the German danger of being flanked. Meantime westward toward the sea the Canadian-British forces have established another bridgehead across the Seine near the coast, thus increasing the very sure Allied grip on that river.

The Seine and the Marne form a natural defensive barrier across northern France, and it had been the obvious intention of the Hitlerites to make a strong stand there, since this position protects their all-important channel defenses to the north and their gateway through Belgium to the Reich. Now they will have to pull out quickly or suffer another disaster such as has been visited on them in the battle of Normandy.

Actually it will be surprising if the Germans aren't already in the process of withdrawing. Their probable intention is to make their next big defense on the Somme river in the northern tip of France, and perhaps on the Aisne, which forms a more or less continuous front with the Somme. The valleys of both these streams were the scene of bloody fighting in the last war.

Under Pressure

Whether the Germans will be able to pull up their socks on the Somme is a matter of some question. They are under increasing pressure from the great and exceedingly mobile Allied forces which are bent on trapping the Nazis against the coast of the English channel. Moreover—and this shouldn't be overlooked—the Allied Air forces are taking a terrific toll from all concentrations of enemy troops and from forces moving on the roads.

This aerial slaughter of men, destruction of equipment, and the consequent disorganization in Nazi ranks certainly will make it difficult for them to reform for a strong stand on the Somme. However, they must make the effort in order to protect their robot-bomb launching grounds in the Pas de Calais area, and the ports of Calais and Boulogne only about 20 miles from the English coast.

While the Allied troops have thus been energetically building the scaffold on which to hang Herr Hitler, our high command seems to have given another display of acumen in placing the responsibility for the security of Paris in the hands of the French themselves. There still is a certain amount of disorder in the capital and we shall avoid friction by leaving it to the French military to deal with. The situation is such that display of armed authority by foreigners might increase the difficulty.

TWO SOLDIERS SEEK DIVORCE

Libels in divorce were on entry today at the court house from two soldiers—one now serving on the battlefields in France and the other just returned from 29 months service in the South Pacific.

They were entered by Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr., for Ralph E. Hankey, of New Oxford R. D., recently returned from the Pacific theater of war and Clyde W. Stambaugh, also of New Oxford R. D.

Both libels specified serious offenses as grounds for divorce. Hankey's libel, which is versus Naomi Crawford Hankey, whose address is believed to be somewhere in New York state, lists the date of their marriage as January 3, 1942, and the date of separation as January 7 of the same year.

In the Stambaugh libel, versus Florence A. Stambaugh, of Hanover, the date of marriage is given as December 7, 1940, and the date of separation as August 3, 1942.

Stambaugh's address was given as: 365th Fighter Group, 387th Fighter Squadron, APO 565, c/o Postmaster, New York, New York.

The papers bearing Stambaugh's signatures were returned to Attorney Yake several weeks after he had sent them to Stambaugh in France.

PROPERTY TRANSFER

A deed was on file today at the court house showing the following transaction: William P. Bankert, executor of the will of the late Magie Virginia Crouse, of Germany township, to Walter L. and Myra E. Sheely, Littlestown, three tracts of land totalling approximately 14 acres in Germany township.

Weddings

Cummings—Coffey

The Rev. Wallace Joseph Cummings, pastor of Centenary Methodist church, Littlestown, and Miss Kathryn Elizabeth Coffey, Shippensburg, were married Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Grace Reformed church, Shippensburg, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the couple. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Rowland R. Lehman, superintendent of the Harrisburg district of the Methodist church, and the Rev. Porter Seiwel, pastor of Grace Reformed church, Shippensburg, the bride's pastor.

There were no attendants. The bride was presented in marriage by her father, John E. Coffey. The ushers were A-S Harry G. Ekdahl, U. S. Naval Reserves, State college, a friend of the bridegroom; R. Ward Cummings, Wilkensburg, a brother of the bridegroom; J. Charles Coffey, Norfolk, Va., brother of the bride, and Dr. Raymond Hale, Arendtsville, a cousin of the bride.

The bride is the eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Coffey, Shippensburg. She was graduated from the Shippensburg high school in 1931 and from Shippensburg State Teachers' college in 1935. She taught in the Everett high school for two years and was a teacher in the Shippensburg schools for seven years, resigning last June. She taught language and social studies. The bride has been a member of Grace Reformed church and is active in a number of civic and social organizations in Shippensburg.

The bridegroom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cummings, Littlestown, and a native of Andover, N. Y. He was graduated from the Central high school, Syracuse, N. Y., in 1929, and from Williamsport-Dickinson Junior college in 1938. In 1941 he was graduated from Pennsylvania State college. He is now attending Westminster Theological seminary, Westminster, Md., from which he will be graduated next May. He has been in the ministry of the Methodist church for the past nine years, having served churches at Proctor, Stormstown, and Howard, Pa. He has been the pastor of the Centenary Methodist church, Littlestown, since April 1, 1943.

Following a brief wedding trip the couple will return to the Methodist parsonage in Littlestown, where they will be at home after September 1.

Dickinson—Haar

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Haar, New Oxford, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Betty Jane, to Flight Officer W. Robert Dickinson, son of A. S. Dickinson, York, last Tuesday at Westminster, Maryland. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Elwood S. Falkenstein in Grace Evangelical church.

The couple was attended by Freda Noble, New Oxford, and Flight Officer Roger Cleon Taylor, Red Lion. The bride wore a gray dressmaker suit with fuchsia accessories and a corsage of orchids. The bridesmaid was attired in a blue wool dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Both bridegroom and best man are glider pilots assigned to the Troop Carrier Command and are stationed at Larnburg—Maxton Army Air base, Camp Maxton, N. C. Mrs. Dickinson plans to join her husband in the near future.

H. W. SHEFFER BURIED TODAY

Funeral services with military rites were conducted this afternoon for Howard W. Sheffer, clerk of the courts, who was fatally injured in a fall Saturday afternoon at his office at the court house.

The Rev. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, of which Mr. Sheffer was an active member, conducted the services at the Bender funeral home, Carlisle street, following ritualistic services conducted by members of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion.

Pallbearers were Samuel Serff, Stanton House, Albert Cardenti, Joseph Smith, Lawrence E. Oyler and Howard Hartzell.

Military services were conducted by members of the Legion post at the graveside in Evergreen cemetery. The firing squad composed of members of the Minute Men county guard organization under the command of Captain C. Arthur Bream, included Sgt. George Naugle, Sgt. George Cushman, Sgt. Kermit Deardorff, Sgt. Chester Stoner, Sgt. Raymond Menges and Sgt. George Bushman.

Cpl. Eddie Moser, Minute Men bugler, blew taps over the grave.

Monday night at the Bender funeral home, four members of the Legion post acted as an honorary guard. They were Lawrence Sheads, C. Arthur Bream, Wilbur Geiselman and Paul L. Spangler.

Court house offices closed at noon today and did not reopen until 3 o'clock so that court house officials could attend the rites.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

How to avoid unemployment after the war is a grim question that is foremost in everyone's mind. But job-creating industry and its problems, which are determining factors in the lives of all of us, is not receiving the public consideration it deserves.

Too many people still look upon industry as an entity unto itself. They feel that tax and legislative measures affecting industry are things for the "big guys" to worry about. They don't realize that when a corporation gets slapped in the face with crippling legislation or taxation, eventually the effect is reflected in its capacity to produce, and the little guy as well as the big guy gets hit between the eyes by loss of employment or restricted output.

Give industry a fair break and unemployment will get a knock-out punch it will never forget.

The question is often asked in Gettysburg: "Why doesn't the Chamber of Commerce bring some more industries here?"

That question is easily answered. The Chamber of Commerce is and has been every effort to bring industries here. . . . Industries that will really mean something . . . and not those always looking for a place to light.

The Chamber investigates every query. It investigates the financial status of a company seeking a new location, the number of employees it engages, the nature of its business and the facilities here to take care of it.

Practically every industry that wanted to come to Gettysburg has invariably asked for these things:

A cash outlay from the community of amounts ranging from $40,000 to more than $100,000.

Tax-free in the community for periods from five years and up.

A completely equipped building with floor space ranging from 50,000 square feet and up.

Who's going to put up the money for a new industry?

Where are you going to find a vacant building to accommodate such an industry?

If the industry is financially sound, worth-while and deserving why doesn't the industry finance its own expansion?

Yes, we can use industries in Gettysburg, but the kind of industries we want are those that will mean something to the community.

We have fine industries in Gettysburg and it might be well to give them some consideration before we consider financing a new project or one that could not make it go in some other community.

We are not going to be suckers for anyone.

HITLER WILL FIGHT IF HE CAN GET MEN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

We are on the verge of the beaten Hitler's great retreat from western France to the defenses of his own frontier where he plans to fight just as long as he can find men who are willing to risk their lives for him.

Events have moved rapidly during the past few hours. Any chance the Germans may have had of holding the strategic line of the Marne river have been nullified by General Patton's drive to the World War battlefield of Chateau-Thierry, hallowed by the gallantry of our Doughboys of a generation ago, and his daring thrust fourteen miles northward from Meux on that river.

Threatens Flank

This move by the adventurous two-gun commander not only has cut the river, but it has decidedly increased the German danger of being flanked. Meantime westward toward the sea the Canadian-British forces have established another bridgehead across the Seine near the coast, thus increasing the very sure Allied grip on that river.

The Seine and the Marne form a natural defensive barrier across northern France, and it had been the obvious intention of the Hitlerites to make a strong stand there, since this position protects their all-important channel defenses to the north and their gateway through Belgium to the Reich. Now they will have to pull out quickly or suffer another disaster such as has been visited on them in the battle of Normandy.

Actually it will be surprising if the Germans aren't already in the process of withdrawing. Their probable intention is to make their next big defense on the Somme river in the northern tip of France, and perhaps on the Aisne, which forms a more or less continuous front with the Somme. The valleys of both these streams were the scene of bloody fighting in the last war.

Under Pressure

Whether the Germans will be able to pull up their socks on the Somme is a matter of some question. They are under increasing pressure from the great and exceedingly mobile Allied forces which are bent on trapping the Nazis against the coast of the English channel. Moreover—and this shouldn't be overlooked—the Allied Air forces are taking a terrific toll from all concentrations of enemy troops and from forces moving on the roads.

This aerial slaughter of men, destruction of equipment, and the consequent disorganization in Nazi ranks certainly will make it difficult for them to reform for a strong stand on the Somme. However, they must make the effort in order to protect their robot-bomb launching grounds in the Pas de Calais area, and the ports of Calais and Boulogne only about 20 miles from the English coast.

While the Allied troops have thus been energetically building the scaffold on which to hang Herr Hitler, our high command seems to have given another display of acumen in placing the responsibility for the security of Paris in the hands of the French themselves. There still is a certain amount of disorder in the capital and we shall avoid friction by leaving it to the French military to deal with. The situation is such that display of armed authority by foreigners might increase the difficulty.

TWO SOLDIERS SEEK DIVORCE

Libels in divorce were on entry today at the court house from two soldiers—one now serving on the battlefields in France and the other just returned from 25 months service in the South Pacific.

They were entered by Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr., for Ralph E. Hankey, of New Oxford R. D., recently returned from the Pacific theater of war and Clyde W. Stambaugh, also of New Oxford R. D.

Both libels specified serious offenses as grounds for divorce.

Hankey's libel, which is versus Naomi Crawford Hankey, whose address is believed to be somewhere in New York state, lists the date of their marriage as January 3, 1942, and the date of separation as January 7 of the same year.

In the Stambaugh libel, versus Florence A. Stambaugh, of Hanover, the date of marriage is given as December 7, 1940, and the date of separation as August 3, 1942.

Stambaugh's address was given as: 365th Fighter Group, 387th Fighter Squadron, APO 965, c/o Postmaster, New York, New York.

The papers bearing Stambaugh's signatures were returned to Attorney Yake several weeks after he had sent them to Stambaugh in France.

PROPERTY TRANSFER

A deed was on file today at the court house showing the following transaction: William P. Bankert, executor of the will of the late Maggie Virginia Crouse, of Germany township, to Walter L. and Myra E. Sheely, Littlestown, three tracts of land totaling approximately 14 acres in Germany township.

Weddings

Cummings—Coffey

The Rev. Wallace Joseph Cummings, pastor of Centenary Methodist church, Littlestown, and Miss Kathryn Elizabeth Coffey, Shippenburg, were married Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Grace Reformed church, Shippenburg, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the couple. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Rowland R. Lehman, superintendent of the Harrisburg district of the Methodist church, and the Rev. Porter Seiwel, pastor of Grace Reformed church, Shippenburg, the bride's pastor.

There were no attendants. The bride was presented in marriage by her father, John E. Coffey. The ushers were A-S Harry G. Ekdahl, U. S. Naval Reserves, State college, a friend of the bridegroom; R. Ward Cummings, Wilkinsburg, a brother of the bridegroom; J. Charles Coffey, Norfolk, Va., brother of the bride, and Dr. Raymond Hale, Arendtsville, a cousin of the bride.

The bride is the eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Coffey, Shippenburg. She was graduated from the Shippenburg high school in 1931 and from Shippenburg State Teachers' college in 1935. She taught in the Everett high school for two years and was a teacher in the Shippenburg schools for seven years, resigning last June. She taught language and social studies. The bride has been a member of Grace Reformed church and is active in a number of civic and social organizations in Shippenburg.

The bridegroom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cummings, Littlestown, and a native of Andover, N. Y. He was graduated from the Central high school, Syracuse, N. Y., in 1929, and from Williamsport-Dickinson Junior college in 1938. In 1941 he was graduated from Pennsylvania State college. He is now attending Westminster Theological seminary, Westminster, Md., from which he will be graduated next May. He has been in the ministry of the Methodist church for the past nine years, having served charges at Proctor, Stormtown and Howard, Pa. He has been the pastor of the Centenary Methodist church, Littlestown, since April 1, 1943.

Following a brief wedding trip the couple will return to the Methodist parsonage in Littlestown, where they will be at home after September 1.

H. W. SHEFFER BURIED TODAY

Funeral services with military rites were conducted this afternoon for Howard W. Sheffer, clerk of the courts, who was fatally injured in a fall Saturday afternoon at his office at the court house.

The Rev. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, of which Mr. Sheffer was an active member, conducted the services at the Bender funeral home, Carlisle street, following ritualistic services conducted by members of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion.

Pallbearers were Samuel Serff, Stanton House, Albert Cardenti, Joseph Smith, Lawrence E. Oyler and Howard Hartzell.

Military services were conducted by members of the Legion post at the graveside in Evergreen cemetery. The firing squad composed of members of the Minute Men county guard organization under the command of Captain C. Arthur Bream, included Sgt. George Naugle, Sgt. George Cushman, Sgt. Kermit Deardorff, Sgt. Chester Stoner, Sgt. Raymond Menges and Sgt. George Bushman.

Cpl. Eddie Moser, Minute Men bugler, blew taps over the grave.

Monday night at the Bender funeral home, four members of the Legion post acted as an honorary guard. They were Lawrence Sheads, C. Arthur Bream, Wilbur Geiselman and Paul L. Spangler.

Court house offices closed at noon today and did not reopen until 3 o'clock so that court house officials could attend the rites.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

How to avoid unemployment after the war is a grim question that is foremost in everyone's mind. But job-creating industry and its problems, which are determining factors in the lives of all of us, is not receiving the public consideration it deserves.

Too many people still look upon industry as an entity unto itself. They feel that tax and legislative measures affecting industry are things for the "big guys" to worry about. They don't realize that when a corporation gets slapped in the face with crippling legislation or taxation, eventually the effect is reflected in its capacity to produce, and the little guy as well as the big guy gets hit between the eyes by loss of employment or restricted output.

Give industry a fair break and unemployment will get a knockout punch it will never forget.

The question is often asked in Gettysburg: "Why doesn't the Chamber of Commerce bring some more industries here?"

That question is easily answered. The Chamber of Commerce is and has been and will continue to make every effort to bring industries here. . . . industries that will really mean something . . . and not those always looking for a place to light.

The Chamber investigates every query. It investigates the financial status of a company seeking a new location, the number of employees it engages, the nature of its business and the facilities here to take care of it.

Practically every industry that wanted to come to Gettysburg has invariably asked for these things:

A cash outlay from the community of amounts ranging from $40,000 to more than $100,000.

Tax-free in the community for periods from five years and up.

A completely equipped building with floor space ranging from 50,000 square feet and up.

Who's going to put up the money for a new industry?

Where are you going to find a vacant building to accommodate such a new industry?

If the industry is financially sound, worth-while and deserving why doesn't the industry finance its own expansion?

Yes, we can use industries in Gettysburg, but the kind of industries we want are those that will mean something to the community.

We have fine industries in Gettysburg and it might be well to give them some consideration before we consider financing a new project or one that could not make it a go in some other community.

We are not going to be suckers for anyone.

COAL STRIKES NOT SETTLED; UNION BALKS

Pittsburgh, Aug. 29 (AP)—The bituminous coal industry today awaited effects of a rejection by United Mine Workers officials of overtures by the War Labor board to settle current strikes among 4,260 miners following demands for recognition of a mine supervisors' union.

Spread of these walkouts, meanwhile, hinged on strike votes scheduled to begin tomorrow in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The National Labor Relations board announced the first series of balloting would take place tomorrow at five mines in Cambria county—the two pits of Springfield Coal corporation, and one each of Monroe Mining company, Imperial Mining company, and Heistley Coal company.

The mine supervisory workers will vote on whether or not to recognize the United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory Employees of the Mining Industry, District 50, U.M.W., as their collective bargaining agent.

At Washington yesterday, spokesmen for striking mine supervisors of the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal company and the Ford Collieries company told the WLB in effect that the current strikes would be terminated until the companies agreed to collective bargaining.

The WLB has no jurisdiction over recognition issues. This is vested in the NLRB, whose latest ruling is that employees are not bound by law to bargain with supervisors' organizations but may do so.

John McAlpine, president of the District 50 unit, said the companies told the union they could not legally bargain with the supervisors.

Race For Eastern Batting Honors

(By The Associated Press)
Swinging a red hot bat, Roland Glavin, outfielder-third sacker for the Hartford Laurels, today had climbed into a tie with Rip Collins, Albany manager and first baser, for Eastern league batting honors.

Unofficial figures yesterday have for each a batting average of .393 with two weeks of pennant play to go.

The Hartford slugger picked up nearly 20 points in the past two weeks and now threatens to take over the top spot held by Collins since early season.

Games scheduled yesterday at Williamsport and Wilkes-Barre were postponed.

BYRON NELSON SEEKING MORE GOLD IN SOUTH

By L. E. SKELLEY
Chicago, Aug. 29 (AP)—Lord Byron Nelson, the big money man of golf, headed south today to pick up more links gold.

The tall Texan who said he played "just as well as I could have possibly played" to win $13,452.50 in war bonds in the all-American open yesterday, departed today for Nashville, Tenn., where he will compete in the $10,000 invitational open Sept. 1-4.

In talking up his third win since George S. May inaugurated his all-American golf show in 1941, Nelson posted a 280 score for the 72-hole round, finishing with a three-under-par 69 to discourage challengers who believed they had a chance after the champion turned in a third round 73.

Amateur Playoff
Ed Dudley, president of the P. G. A., came from far back in the pack to get a final round 69 good for a 285 total and second place. The husky P. G. A. prey was a stroke ahead of P. G. A. Buck White, who lost a title play of a year ago to Harold (Jug) McSpaden. McSpaden, who won the 1943 championship with 282, dropped to ninth place with a 76 for 289.

Although the open and women championships were decided yesterday, three amateurs—Ad Furgol of Detroit, Ken Heilemann, the St. Louis chemist, and Ed Christiansen, the golfing detective from Miami, Fla.—were involved in an 18-hole playoff today for the Simon-Pure title. They were deadlocked at 21 holes with 295 totals.

Nelson's rich first prize in the open brought his total 1944 cash earnings to $25,700, topping the previous record of $19,600 by Slammin' Sammy Snead back in 1932.

WESTERNERS TRIUMPH
Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Junior Intercollegiate Tennis trophy was won here yesterday by the unbeaten western team which defeated the Middle States Girls 8-1. National girls champion Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, who led the western team, gained a 6-1, 6-1 victory over the Middle States titleholder, Sylvia Knowles. The trophy is the award of Eleanor Sears, Boston.

BOUT POSTPONED
Pittsburgh, Aug. 29 (AP)—Last night's rain washed out a six-hour fight card at Hickey Park featuring Jose Basora of Puerto Rico and Ossie (Bulldog) Harris, Pittsburgh middleweight. The fights will be held tonight.

HOCKEY COACH QUILTS
Pittsburgh, Aug. 29 (AP)—Larry Aurie, coach of the Pittsburgh Hornets hockey squad, has resigned his position to stay at work at a Detroit industrial job. He guided the Pittsburgh entrants in the American Hockey league to 107 victories, 194 defeats and 35 ties during five seasons from 1939-40 through 1943-44.

BABY-DOCTOR COP
Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (AP)—Policeman Samuel Van Gilder, baby expert of the 42nd district, who officiated at his 21st emergency birth yesterday, said "as usual my only trouble was with the father."

Watchmakers who cared for the Lwow, Poland, town clock in the 15 century, received a rent-free home on the city square.

EXPAND MUSIC TEACHING WORK

Mrs. Ruth W. Elder, Littlestown, who taught music in the schools in Latimore, Huntington, and Tyrone townships during the past school year, has been elected to teach music in the schools of Germany township, it was announced today by J. Floyd Slaybaugh, county superintendent of schools.

The election was made Monday night at a meeting of the township school board at the Oak Grove school. Because of OPA regulations on gasoline and tires, Mrs. Elder also will teach in the schools in Mount Joy and several other townships near Littlestown, Superintendent Slaybaugh said.

He also announced that Miss Janet E. Mehring, Littlestown, has been elected to teach in the Mount Pleasant school in Germany township during the coming year. Miss Mehring formerly taught the second grade in the Littlestown public schools for about 10 years but for the past several years had been doing defense work in a plant in York.

She will fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Etta Garrett, of Hanover, who will teach in the Beaver Creek primary school in Berwick township. The Beaver Creek vacancy was caused by the resignation of Mrs. Ira Y. Baker.

Krug Threatens Dismissals In WPB

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—Confronted by the angry resignation of another top-ranking administrator, big, rosy-cheeked Julius A. Krug waded into dissension-torn War Production Board ranks today with threats of dismissals for "trouble makers."

The 37-year-old ex-Navy Lieutenant Commander, back home from an overseas assignment of simplicity compared with that handed him by President Roosevelt as the aftermath of the latest home front flare-up, declared there will be but "one team at the WPB from now on."

Any who don't play ball, he said, will be let out.

Krug outlined his new policy to the senate war investigating committee even as Sidney J. Weinberg was resigning downtown as WPB vice chairman in charge of special problems with a bias at "demagogic intrigues" within the organization.

Grant Permission To Precube Steaks

Authority for all retailers of meat to pre-cube steaks from top or bottom rounds of utility and cutter and canner grades of beef was granted today by the OPA.

This measure, effective September 4, 1944, was taken because of the present large supply of these grades of meat on the market, and the desire to find a way of retailing them in a form acceptable to the consumer, OPA said.

Retailers are still prohibited from pre-cubing better grades of meat on the market, which are the "choice," "good" and "commercial" grades. Also, the prohibition against the pre-cubing of all cuts of meat other than top or bottom rounds continues.

State Approves Tuition Rates Here

The state Department of Public Instruction has approved tuition rates to be charged by the Gettysburg school district for non-resident pupils in the grade and high schools for the coming school year. The rates are very close to those for last year with a cut of a few cents per pupil per month in the grades and a comparable increase in the high school rate.

The rate per pupil per month in the grades will be $5.88 while that for a high school pupil will be $6.58.

NAME NEW TEACHER

The New Oxford school directors have announced the election of an additional teacher to the high school staff for the coming term. Miss A. Ruth Krug, Oxford township, who taught for a number of years in the Medera high school in central Pennsylvania, is the third new teacher to be named on the faculty within the past six weeks. Miss Krug, who will teach English, Latin and French, had been employed in Washington, D. C., by the FBI for the past two years.

DIVORCE LIBEL FILED

A libel in divorce was filed at the office of the prothonotary at the court house this morning by Betty Marie Lawver, Troxell apartments, verses Edgar Jacob Lawver, Harrisburg.

The libel specified indignities as grounds for divorce. The papers stated the couple was married on April 13, 1935, and separated April 10, 1944. Swope, Brown and Swope are attorneys for Mrs. Lawver.

JURY CONVICTS

Lehnart, Elgerville, and John Fidler, Butler township.

Quick Convictions
Scott was represented by Richard A. Brown, Esq.

The Cullison case was concluded speedily. Cullison, charged by Victor A. Palmer, Gettysburg, admitted having had beer and wine on the day of his arrest and admitted driving Palmer's truck in the vicinity of Bonneauville where the truck was damaged either by hitting a road-side bank or rough roads. The attorneys omitted closing arguments and the jury deliberated 10 minutes.

The Duncan-Harner case which concerned two families living in a double house, their hogs, chickens and extended squabbles that involved name-calling with many of the epithets being repeated in court was heard by this jury: Oris Heckenluber, Ardenville; Glenn Harman, Menallen township; Ruth E. Miller, Menallen township; Harvey Lerew, York Springs; Leslie Keller, Bendersville; George C. Dehoff, Littlestown; Fred G. Pfeiffer, Gettysburg; Harvey Heller, Huntington township; O. J. Waybright, Freedom township; Mrs. Helen Smeltz, New Oxford; Norman Reinecker, Tyrone township, and Robert Weller, McSherrystown. The jury was out for about two hours before finding Mrs. Duncan, who sat in court last week for surety of the peace, guilty.

Hiltbride's defense this morning was a flat denial of the charges and the assertion that he had signed the pleas of guilty at the direction of state police and without knowing what the papers were about. The case involves a 16-year-old Butler township girl who came to court from Muncy to testify for the Commonwealth.

The jury, trying both charges at one time, includes: Preston L. Smith, Hamilton township; Leslie H. Keller, Bendersville; Harry Serf, East Berlin; George Dehoff, Littlestown; Glenn Harman, Menallen township; Norman Reinecker, Tyrone township; G. W. G. Heagy, Gettysburg; Oris Heckenluber, Ardenville; Mrs. Frances Orndorff, Berwick township; Harvey Heller, Huntington township; Harvey F. Lerew, York Springs, and Harvey Walters, Hamiltonban township.

Next case to be tried is that of Ernest Tharp, Gettysburg R. 5, for fraudulent conversion.

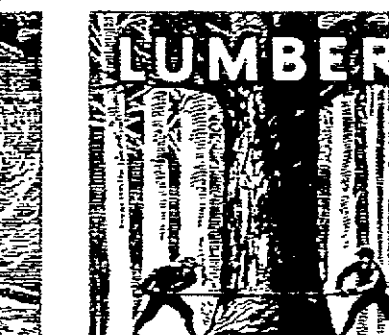

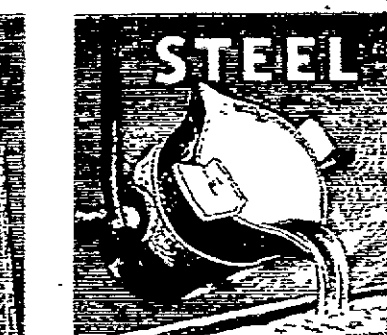

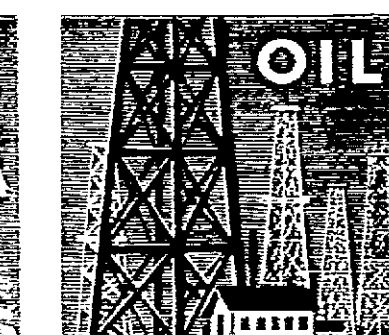

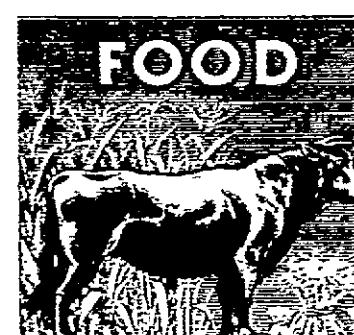

PLEADS GUILTY

Clarence Koontz, Gettysburg R. 3, pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct at a hearing on Monday before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder. Koontz paid a $10 fine and costs. The charges were brought by Borough Officer Clark W. Skeley.

When War Came We Had All of These:

...but the Enemy had the RUBBER

Synthetic rubber... America's great war miracle... quickly overcame this crisis chiefly with the aid of alcohol produced by beverage distillers

The Japanese conquest of the world's largest natural rubber producing centers produced a grave crisis in America's war effort. Synthetic rubber was the only solution. The problem... to produce it in time.

America's rubber chemists knew how to make it. But... the most practical process at the time required huge amounts of alcohol... far beyond the already overtaxed productive capacity of industrial alcohol plants.

Fortunately the beverage distilling industry was in existence in this country with 125 distilleries and a capacity of nearly 250,000,000 gallons annually.

Beverage distillers stopped making whiskey overnight... converted 100% to the manufacture of industrial alcohol. Soon millions of gallons of this vital ingredient were flowing into synthetic rubber plants.

The rest is history.

Synthetic rubber production today is ample to meet our needs for essential civilian and war rubber goods... this emergency no longer exists.

Proof... the request of Bradley Dewey, Rubber Director, to terminate his wartime powers.

Thank you for your patience!

America's beverage distillers are fully aware of the inconveniences you encountered during the 22 months when not a drop of whiskey was made in this country. For your extreme patience and understanding during this period, they express their sincere thanks and appreciation.

Conference of Alcoholic Beverage Industries, Inc.

CRISIS IN 1942

"If we fail to secure quickly a large new rubber supply our war effort and our domestic economy both will collapse."
—Baruch Report, Sept. 11, 1942

ACHIEVEMENT IN 1944

"A synthetic rubber industry has been established and is in complete operation. It is providing the nation with an ample supply of rubber."
—Bradley Dewey, Rubber Director, July 25, 1944

TRIBUTE

Commenting on the beverage distilling industry's contribution, a high W.P.B. official said on April 15, 1944...

- "...it is fair to regard the rubber manufactured to date, as being almost solely the product of the beverage distilling industry."
- "...synthetic rubber is from 6 to 9 months ahead of where it could have been if alcohol had not been available for butadiene production."
- "...an almost unparalleled example of the overnight conversion of an entire industry from peace to war."
—Dr. Walter G. Whelan

COAL STRIKES NOT SETTLED; UNION BALKS

Pittsburgh, Aug. 29 (AP)—The bituminous coal industry today awaited effects of a rejection by United Mine Workers officials of overtime by the War Labor board to settle current strikes among 4,200 miners following demands for recognition of a mine supervisors' union.

Spread of these walkouts, meanwhile, hinged on strike votes scheduled to begin tomorrow in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The National Labor Relations board announced the first series of balloting would take place tomorrow at five mines in Cambria county—the two pits of Springfield Coal corporation, and one each of Monroe Mining company, Imperial Mining company, and Hiesley Coal company.

The mine supervisory workers will vote on whether or not to recognize the United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory Employees of the Mining Industry, District 50, UMW, as their collective bargaining agent.

At Washington yesterday, spokesmen for striking mine supervisors of the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal company and the Ford Collieries company told the WLB in effect that the current strikes would not be terminated until the companies agreed to collective bargaining.

The WLB has no jurisdiction over recognition issues. This is vested in the NLRB, whose latest ruling is that employees are not bound by law to bargain with supervisors' organizations but may do so.

John McAlpine, president of the District 50 unit, said the companies told the union they could not legally bargain with the supervisors.

Race For Eastern Batting Honors

(By The Associated Press)
Swinging a red hot bat, Roland Gladu, outfielder-third sacker for the Hartford Laurels, today had climbed into a tie with Rip Collins, Albany manager and first baser, for Eastern league batting honors.

Unofficial figures yesterday have for each a batting average of .393 with two weeks of pennant play to go.

The Hartford slugger picked up nearly 20 points in the past two weeks and now threatens to take over the top spot held by Collins since early season.

Games scheduled yesterday at Williamsport and Wilkes-Barre were postponed.

BYRON NELSON SEEKING MORE GOLD IN SOUTH

By L. E. SKELLEY

Chicago, Aug. 29 (AP)—Lord Byron Nelson, the big money man of golf, headed south today to pick up more links gold.

The tall Texan who said he played "just as well as I could have possibly played" to win $13,462.50 in war bonds in the all-American open yesterday, departed today for Nashville, Tenn., where he will compete in the $10,000 invitational open Sept. 1-4.

In chalking up his third win since George S. May inaugurated his all-American golf show in 1941, Nelson posted a 280 score for the 72-hole tour, finishing with a three-under-par 69 to discourage challengers who believed they had a chance after the champion turned in a third round 73.

Amateur Playoff

Ed Dudley, president of the P. G. A., came down far back in the pack to get a final round 69 good for a 285 total and second place. The husky P. G. A. prey was a stroke ahead of Pvt. Buck White, who lost a title play off a year ago to Harold (Jug) McSpaden. McSpaden, who won the 1943 championship with 282, dropped to ninth place with a 76 for 289.

Although the open and women championships were decided yesterday, three amateurs—Ad Furedy of Detroit, Ken Heilemann, the St. Louis chemist, and Ed Christiansen, the golfing detective from Miami, Fla.—were involved in an 18-hole playoff today for the Simon-Pure title. They were deadlocked at 72 holes with 295 totals.

Nelson's rich first prize in the open brought his total 1944 cash earnings to $25,700, topping the previous record of $19,600 by Slammin' Sammy Snead back in 1938.

WESTERNERS TRIUMPH

Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Junior Intercollegiate Tennis trophy was won here yesterday by the unbeaten western team which defeated the Middle States Girls 8-1. National girls champion Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, who led the western team, gained a 6-1, 6-1 victory over the Middle States' titleholder, Sylvia Knowles. The trophy is the award of Eleanor Sears, Boston.

EXPAND MUSIC TEACHING WORK

Mrs. Ruth W. Elder, Littlestown, who taught music in the schools in Littlestown, Huntingdon, and Tyrone townships during the past school year, has been elected to teach music in the schools of Germany township, it was announced today by J. Floyd Slaybaugh, county superintendent of schools.

The election was made Monday night at a meeting of the township school board at the Oak Grove school. Because of OPA regulations on gasoline and tires, Mrs. Elder also will teach in the schools in Mount Joy and several other townships near Littlestown. Superintendent Slaybaugh said.

He also announced that Miss Janet E. Mehring, Littlestown, has been elected to teach in the Mount Pleasant school in Germany township during the coming year. Miss Mehring formerly taught the second grade in the Littlestown public schools for about 10 years but for the past several years had been doing defense work in a plant in York.

She will fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Etta Garrett, of Hanover, who will teach in the Beaver Creek primary school in Berwick township. The Beaver Creek vacancy was caused by the resignation of Mrs. Ira Y. Baker.

Synthetic rubber...America's great war miracle...quickly overcame this crisis chiefly with the aid of alcohol produced by beverage distillers

Synthetic rubber was the only solution. The problem...to produce it in time.

America's rubber chemists knew how to make it. But...the most practical process at the time required huge amounts of alcohol...far beyond the already overtaxed productive capacity of industrial alcohol plants.

Fortunately the beverage distilling industry was in existence in this country with 125 distilleries and a capacity of nearly 250,000,000 gallons annually.

Beverage distillers stopped making whiskey overnight...converted 100% to the manufacture of industrial alcohol. Soon millions of gallons of this vital ingredient were flowing into synthetic rubber plants.

The rest is history.

Synthetic rubber production today is ample to meet our needs for essential civilian and war rubber goods...this emergency no longer exists.

COAL STRIKES NOT SETTLED; UNION BALKS

Pittsburgh, Aug. 29 (AP)—The bituminous coal industry today awaited effects of a rejection by United Mine Workers officials of overtures by the War Labor board to settle current strikes among 4,200 miners following demands for recognition of a mine supervisors' union.

Spread of these walkouts, meanwhile, hinged on strike votes scheduled to begin tomorrow in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The National Labor Relations board announced the first series of balloting would take place tomorrow at five mines in Cambria county—the two pits of Springfield Coal corporation, and one each of Monroe Mining company, Imperial Mining company, and Hiesley Coal company.

The mine supervisory workers will vote on whether or not to recognize the United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory Employees of the Mining Industry, District 50, UMW, as their collective bargaining agent.

At Washington yesterday, spokesmen for striking mine supervisors of the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal company and the Ford Collieries company told the WLB in effect that the current strikes would not be terminated until the companies agreed to collective bargaining.

The WLB has no jurisdiction over recognition issues. This is vested in the NLRB, whose latest ruling is that employees are not bound by law to bargain with supervisors' organizations but may do so.

John McAlpine, president of the District 50 unit, said the companies told the union they could not legally bargain with the supervisors.

Race For Eastern Batting Honors

(By The Associated Press)
Swinging a red hot bat, Roland Glada, outfielder-third sacker for the Hartford Laurels, today had climbed into a tie with Rip Collins, Albany manager and first baser, for Eastern league batting honors.

Unofficial figures yesterday have for each a batting average of .393 with two weeks of pennant play to go.

The Hartford slugger picked up nearly 20 points in the past two weeks and now threatens to take over the top spot held by Collins since early season.

Games scheduled yesterday at Williamsport and Wilkes-Barre were postponed.

BYRON NELSON SEEKING MORE GOLD IN SOUTH

By L. E. SKELLEY
Chicago, Aug. 29 (AP)—Lord Byron Nelson, the big money man of golf, headed south today to pick up more links gold.

The tall Texan who said he played "just as well as I could have possibly played" to win $13,462.50 in war bonds in the all-American open yesterday, departed today for Nashville, Tenn., where he will compete in the $10,000 invitational open Sept. 1-4.

In chalking up his third win since George S. May inaugurated his all-American golf show in 1941, Nelson posted a 280 score for the 72-hole route, finishing with a three-under-par 69 to discourage challengers who believed they had a chance after the champion turned in a third round 73.

Amateur Playoff

Ed Dudley, president of the P. G. A., came from far back in the pack to get a final round 69 good for a 285 total and second place. The husky P. G. A. prey was a stroke ahead of Pvt. Buck White, who lost a title play off a year ago to Harold (Jug) McSpaden. McSpaden, who won the 1943 championship with 282, dropped to ninth place with a 76 for 289.

Although the open and women championships were decided yesterday, three amateurs—Ad Purgol of Detroit, Ken Heilemann, the St. Louis chemist, and Ed Christiansen, the golfing detective from Miami, Fla.—were involved in an 18-hole playoff today for the Simon-Pure title. They were deadlocked at 72 holes with 295 totals.

Nelson's rich first prize in the open brought his total 1944 cash earnings to $25,700, topping the previous record of $19,600 by Slammin' Sammy Snead back in 1938.

WESTERNERS TRIUMPH

Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Junior Intersectional Tennis trophy was won here yesterday by the unbeaten western team which defeated the Middle States Girls 8-1. National girls champion Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, who led the western team, gained a 6-1, 6-1 victory over the Middle States' title-holder, Sylvia Knowles. The trophy is the award of Eleanor Sears, Boston.

EXPAND MUSIC TEACHING WORK

Mrs. Ruth W. Elder, Littlestown, who taught music in the schools in Latimore, Huntingdon, and Tyrone townships during the past school year, has been elected to teach music in the schools of Germany township. It was announced today by J. Floyd Slaybaugh, county superintendent of schools.

The election was made Monday night at a meeting of the township school board at the Oak Grove school. Because of OPA regulations on gasoline and tires, Mrs. Elder also will teach in the schools in Mount Joy and several other townships near Littlestown, Superintendent Slaybaugh said.

He also announced that Miss Janet E. Mehring, Littlestown, has been elected to teach in the Mount Pleasant school in Germany township during the coming year. Miss Mehring formerly taught the second grade in the Littlestown public schools for about 10 years but for the past several years had been doing defense work in a plant in York.

She will fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Etta Garrett, of Hanover, who will teach in the Beaver Creek primary school in Berwick township. The Beaver Creek vacancy was caused by the resignation of Mrs. Ira Y. Baker.

Krug Threatens Dismissals In WPB

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—Confronted by the angry resignation of another top-ranking administrator, big, rosy-cheeked Julius A. Krug waded into dissension-torn War Production Board ranks today with threats of dismissal for "trouble makers."

The 37-year-old ex-Navy Lieutenant Commander, back home from an overseas assignment of simplicity compared with that handed him by President Roosevelt as the aftermath of the latest home front flare-up, declared there will be but "one team at the WPB from now on."

Any who don't play ball, he said, will be let out.
Krug outlined his new policy to the senate war investigating committee even as Sidney J. Weinberg was resigning downtown as WPB vice chairman in charge of special problems with a blast at "demagogic intrigues" within the organization.

Grant Permission To Precube Steaks

Authority for all retailers of meat to pre-cube steaks from top or bottom rounds of utility and cutter and canner grades of beef was granted today by the OPA.

This measure, effective September 4, 1944, was taken because of the present large supply of these grades of meat on the market, and the desire to find a way of retailing them in a form acceptable to the consumer, OPA said.

Retailers are still prohibited from pre-cubing better grades of meat on the market, which are the "choice," "good" and "commercial" grades. Also, the prohibition against the pre-cubing of all cuts of meat other than top or bottom rounds continues.

Gives Convention Report To P.O.S. Of A.

District President George D. Sheely, New Oxford, reported to the Past President's association of the P. O. S. of A. of Adams county Monday evening at New Oxford on the recent state sessions of the lodge convention at Reading. The report was given during the monthly session of the Past President's at which Mr. Sheely presided.

C. P. Keefer, New Oxford, gave the address of welcome which was responded to by J. E. Snyder, president of the second district. Camps represented included Gettysburg, Heidersburg, New Oxford and Stoverstown. Gettysburg was selected as the place for the next meeting on Thursday, October 19. About 40 attended. Refreshments were served after the business session.

FILE EXPENSES IN BOND DRIVE

The Adams County War Finance committee has a balance of $14.14, a statement of monies received and expended during the Fifth War Bond drive reveals.

The expenses include the soldier show presented in the Majestic theatre, the visit of the war material caravan and the veteran who spoke throughout the county and other items.

Receipts totaled $693, including $278 from the service charge on tickets for the soldier show, $330 from advertisements in the soldier show program and contributions of $85.

Expenditures totaled $678.86 which included transportation for soldier show cast and scenery, rental of scenery, lighting effects and other items in connection with the show, programs, telephone service and toll charges, meals, maintenance of veteran, mimeographing, printing and stenciling, honor roll, posters, press charges, typewriter rental, service bars and stars and numerous other smaller items.

Rooms for members of Caravan and veteran were through the courtesy of the Hotel Gettysburg. The Majestic theatre contributed the theatre and the service of the theatre employees.

State Approves Tuition Rates Here

The state Department of Public Instruction has approved tuition rates to be charged by the Gettysburg school district for non-resident pupils in the grade and high schools for the coming school year. The rates are very close to those for last year with a cut of a few cents per pupil per month in the grades and a comparable increase in the high school rate.

The rate per pupil per month in the grades will be $5.88 while that for a high school pupil will be $8.58.

NAME NEW TEACHER

The New Oxford school directors have announced the election of an additional teacher to the high school staff for the coming term. Miss A. Ruth Krug, Oxford township, who taught for a number of years in the Medera high school in central Pennsylvania, is the third new teacher to be named on the faculty within the past six weeks. Miss Krug, who will teach English, Latin and French, had been employed in Washington, D. C., by the FBI for the past two years.

DIVORCE LIBEL FILED

A libel in divorce was filed at the office of the prothonotary at the court house this morning by Betty Marie Lawver, Troxell apartments, verses Edgar Jacob Lawver, Harrisburg.

The libel specified indignities as grounds for divorce. The papers stated the couple was married on April 13, 1935, and separated April 10, 1944. Swope, Brown and Swope are attorneys for Mrs. Lawver.

JURY CONVICTS

Leinart, Biglerville, and John Fidler, Butler township.

Scott was represented by Richard A. Brown, Esq.

The Cullison case was concluded quickly. Cullison, charged by Victor A. Palmer, Gettysburg, admitted having had beer and wine on the day of his arrest and admitted driving Palmer's truck in the vicinity of Bonneauville where the truck was damaged either by hitting a roadside bank or rough roads. The attorneys omitted closing arguments and the jury deliberated 10 minutes.

The Duncan-Harner case which concerned two families living in a double house, their hogs, chickens and extended squabbles that involved name-calling with many of the epithets being repeated in court was heard by this jury: Orle Heckenluber, Arendtsville; Glenn Hartman, Menallen township; Ruth E. Miller, Menallen township; Harvey Lerew, York Springs; Leslie Keller, Bendersville; George C. Dehoff, Littlestown; Fred G. Pfeffer, Gettysburg; Harvey Heller, Huntingdon township; O. J. Waybright, Freedom township; Mrs. Helen Smeltz, New Oxford; Norman Reinecker, Tyrone township; and Robert Weller, McSherrytown. The jury was out for about two hours before finding Mrs. Duncan, who sat in court last week for surety of the peace, guilty.

Hillebride's defense this morning was a flat denial of the charges and the assertion that he had signed the pleas of guilty at the direction of state police and without knowing "what the papers were about." The case involves a 16-year-old Butler township girl who came to court from Muncy to testify for the Commonwealth.

The jury, trying both charges at one time, includes: Preston L. Smith, Hamilton township; Leslie H. Keller, Bendersville; Harry Serf, East Berlin; George Dehoff, Littlestown; Glenn Hartman, Menallen township; Norman Reinecker, Tyrone township; G. W. G. Heagy, Gettysburg; Orle Heckenluber, Arendtsville; Mrs. Frances Orndorff, Berwick township; Harvey Heller, Huntingdon township; Harvey P. Lerew, York Springs, and Harvey Walters, Hamiltonban township.

Next case to be tried is that of Ernest Tharp, Gettysburg R. 5, for fraudulent conversion.

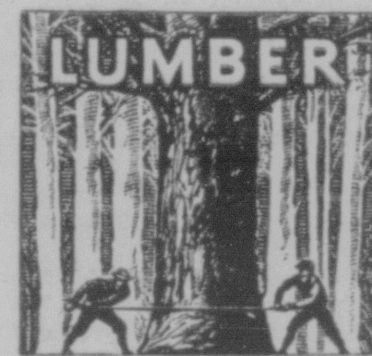

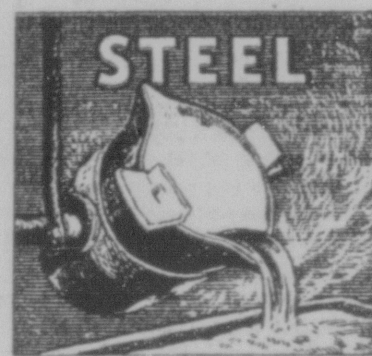

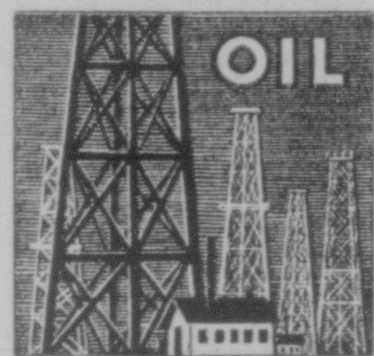

PLEADS GUILTY

Clarence Koonitz, Gettysburg R. 3, pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct at a hearing on Monday before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder. Koonitz paid a $10 fine and costs. The charges were brought by Borough Officer Clark W. Staley.

QUESTIONING

What wrongs have bred this fear of men
In living creatures, great and small,
That they will flee for cover when
They sight the mildest of us all?

The cardinal will hush his song
Or leave the corn which I bestow
The instant that I come along.
As if I were his bitter foe.

Why this instinctive fear of man?
And was it so ere guns were made?
When first the human race began
Were all things else of it afraid?

Was there a time when man could pace
The woods and fields in light of day
And not a creature quit his place
Or take to flight or haste away?

Has man so foully dealt with bird
And beast and all things wild and free
That let his footstep but be heard
Instinctively from him they flee?

Today's Talk
ADVENTURING INTO THE UNEXPECTED

I have just finished reading a rare, spicy, brief book—My Unconsidered Judgment, by Noel F. Busch, the editor of Life magazine. He wouldn't need to be editor of anything if he would give all his time to the writing of such books as this, for as a morale builder, he would be put on a high pinnacle.

He left home and started for South America for a trip around a good part of the world, that he might at least discover One World—but ran into scores of them! He by-passed nothing that scared a new adventurer and the unexpected met him everywhere. Princeton University let this author loose some time ago, but I don't think he needed even Princeton. He was born with something rare in his blood, and this book as well as his many summering magazine articles, is a delight to the mind, with something of rare vintage thrown in to comfort the soul.

In this book is variety de luxe, and his character sketches of Jan Smuts, Sir Arthur Peacock, Ibn Saud, Anthony Eden and Jane Nugent are each a shining star in a firmament of brilliant entertainment. And the book is just long enough. Why are long books written anyway?

The closing chapter of this intriguing little book is far from being less interesting than the other part. In fact it has a spark of genius to it! Mr. Busch's suggestions as to the handling of Germany, whose ideal of endless war has so troubled the world, are unique if nothing else, and his suggestion to make northern Africa and the lower Mediterranean the parking grounds for future wars has a good idea hidden away in it.

This, "stunningly" says this writer, "the war with Germany might become a token affair, a display of power, consequence, and the swiftness of action. United States soldiers now set off in Hyde Park, London, to commemorate the United States Revolution."

I shall read Mr. Busch's future books with relish, even though I may not agree with his conclusions. We need such writers to keep our minds on even as well as to be entertained through life.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject "The Man's Man."

POLITICAL RAGE HEATED BY PAC ROLE IN NATION
(By The Associated Press)
Political temperature rose today in the midst of an almost country-wide cool wave as the hour neared for formal opening of the fall presidential and congressional campaigns.

Generating much partisan heat was Sidney Hillman's CIO political action committee. Hillman, himself, told a House campaign funds committee that the PAC, while supporting the Roosevelt-Truman ticket, was not trying to "capture" either the Democratic or Republican party and would adhere to campaign expenditure laws. He denied the PAC is "Communist-engineered," asserting:

"I'm opposed to Communism because I'm opposed to all totalitarianism—even in industry."

Says PAC Is "Non-Partisan"
He promised to give reports on progress of a drive to raise a campaign fund of $5,000,000 in one-dollar subscriptions from CIO members.

He said the PAC is backing the Roosevelt-Truman ticket and seeks to elect a "progressive congress." He emphasized, however, that it will not contribute funds to the Democratic national committee.

The PAC, he said is non-partisan and might support a Republican in any given campaign. In fact, he said, the CIO in 1937 gave $5,000 to support Gov. Dewey in the New York gubernatorial race.

The House committee meanwhile went on to a general search for "slush funds," calling on both industry and labor for details of contributions to the presidential campaign.

Flashes Of Life
RANDOM HARVEST
Newton, N. C. (AP)—A farmer agreed to cut a neighbor's hay field for a share of the crop. Two days later he returned to rake and bale the hay.

In the field he was greeted by another man who told him, "Thank you for cutting my hay. With all the labor shortage I didn't know how I was going to get it cut."

The farmer had cut the wrong field.

LOOKS LIKE A COLD WINTER
New York (AP)—Junior may have to go to school minus underwear and his sister may be wearing last year's cotton dresses. But with coats, they'll be better off than baby brother with the prospect of only a dozen diapers.

This prospect is the result of a survey of the infants' and children's clothing situation, which the trade said was very tight.

DROWNS ON FURLOUGH

Nazis Lose 122,000 Soldiers In Traps
British Headquarters Near the Seine, Aug. 29 (AP)—Allied troops killed or captured 122,000 Germans in traps southwest of the lower Seine, last week, ripping Von Kluge's Seventh Army into all but worthless shreds, British Second Army headquarters disclosed today.

Some 92,000 were captured between Aug. 29-25 and 30,000 were estimated to have been killed.

Even this huge bag has been swelled during the last three days and will grow again today as troops complete mopping up the last three remaining pockets in Seine river loops south and west of Rouen.

The trapped Germans have been fighting back with the desperation of trapped animals.

GIVEN CMH FOR HEROISM IN AIR
Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Congressional Medal of Honor has been awarded a 21-year-old soldier who although wounded in the chest, eyes and both legs drove off German planes from his bomber, repaired and manned the radio and then saved the life of an injured tail gunner.

The citation, accompanying the medal of Tech. Sgt. Forrest L. Vosler, of Lavonia, New York, now convalescing in the Valley Forge General hospital at Phoenixville, Pa., for "conspicuous gallantry in action against the enemy above and beyond the call of duty" last December 20 read in part:

"A 20-mm cannon shell exploded in the radio compartment, painfully wounding Sergeant Vosler in the legs and thighs. At about the same time a direct hit on the tail of the ship seriously wounded the tail gunner. x x x Vosler kept up a steady stream of fire. x x x Another 20-mm shell exploded, wounding Vosler in the chest and about the face. Pieces of metal lodged in both eyes. x x x Unable to see and working entirely by touch, Vosler finally got the radio set operating and sent out distress signals despite several lapses into unconsciousness.

"x x x When the ship 'ditched,' Vosler managed to get out on the wing by himself and hold the wounded tail gunner from slipping off until the other crew members could help them into a dinghy."

After the tail gunner and Vosler had been injured, the young sergeant's plane companions said, Vosler argued that to throw him overboard would lighten the plane by 175 pounds.

Property Transfers
The following deeds were on file today at the court house:

Charles M. Rhine, of Clearfield, and Harry J. and Samuel D. Rhine, of Gettysburg, to George W. Bishop, a lot in Gettysburg.

Clayton E. Topper, Straban township, to Richard L. and Ada F. Noel, Hanover, a property on the south side of the Lincoln Highway in Straban township.

Escher K. and Truman L. Grogan, Huntingdon township to Vernon P. Starbough East Berlin R 1, a property of approximately 82 acres in Reading township.

BIG POWERS IN AGREEMENT ON SECURITY PACT
Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Dumbarton Oaks conference announced today "general agreement" in the form of an international security organization, including a council composed of big powers plus a number of smaller nations.

The conferees declined to amplify the announcement made or to say specifically in a joint statement what authority should be given to the small powers on the council in relation to the big nations.

The joint statement said:

"After a week of discussions, the three heads of delegations are happy to announce that there is general agreement among them to recommend that the proposed international organization for peace and security should provide for:

"1. An assembly composed of representatives of all peace-loving nations based on the principle of sovereign equality.

"2. A council composed of a smaller number of members in which the principal states will be joined by a number of other states to be elected periodically.

"3. Effective means for the peaceful settlement of disputes, including an international court of justice for the adjudication of justiciable questions, and also the applications of such other means as may be necessary for maintenance of peace and security.

The delegations are continuing to discuss the structure and jurisdiction of the various organs and methods of procedure.

IN TRAINING FOR SERVICE ON LSM

Now rated as Seaman Second Class, McIntyre is undergoing intensive training to serve as Radioman on one of the seagoing invasion vessels.

LSM's are now joining the amphibious fleets in large numbers, and are counted upon to play a leading part in the Allies' plan of victory. They combine the best features of the 328-foot LST (Landing Ship, Tank) and the smaller LCT (Landing Craft, Tank), with the added advantage of superior speed and cruising range. LSM's can carry battle equipment across the oceans and discharge their cargoes directly on to enemy-held shores.

McIntyre attended Gettysburg high school.

Alfred McIntyre, a sister, is a member of the U. S. Army Nurse Corps. They are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. McIntyre, 141 East Water street.

51 IN PHILADELPHIA
Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (AP)—The temperature slumped to 51 at 6 a. m. Monday, making it the coldest Aug. 28 on record. By 10 a. m., however, the reading was 65.

Receives Third Oak Leaf Cluster
Fifteenth AAF in Italy (By Mail)
Staff Sergeant James C. Black, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Black, Aspers, has been awarded the third Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal it has been announced by 15th Army Air Force headquarters.

In the words of the citation, Sergeant Black was awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster "for meritorious achievement in aerial flight while participating in sustained operational activities against the enemy. A tail turret gunner, Sergeant Black is stationed in Italy with a 15th AAF Liberator Bombardment Group which has been bombing German held targets in Europe.

Prior to entering the Armed Forces, Sergeant Black was employed in Mechanicsburg. He has been serving with the Air Force since March 1, 1943.

Defense Corps To Mobilize Sept. 13
Harrisburg, Aug. 29 (AP)—State-wide mobilization of Pennsylvania's Citizens' Defense Corps has been ordered by the State Defense Council for September 13.

The order was issued by Col. Lynn C. Adams, commander of the council's protective services, through Col. Ralph M. Mitchell, state control center head.

The mobilization will give officials an opportunity to inspect property and equipment and to check with individual identification cards and armbands. The inspection will also be extended to include a check of allocated federal property such as helmets and gas masks.

TWO BROTHERS KILLED
Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (AP)—The War Department notified Mr. and Mrs. George Woodson that their son, Pfc. Charles Woodson, 26, has been killed in France. His brother, Pfc. William, 22, was killed in Italy last November.

Idaho comes from the Indian "edah hoe" meaning light on the mountains.

Bulgaria Is Now Seeking Armistice
Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull reported Monday that Bulgarian officials have been in touch with Allied governments on the question of making an armistice. He said he did not know whether American officials had been among those contacted.

In the case of Romania, which has already turned on German troops and declared its intention to fight on the Allied side, Hull said that this government had been kept advised, mainly by Russian officials, of the progress toward making armistice arrangements.

Early experiments in dive-bombing were conducted by U. S. Marines in Haiti in 1920.

COSTS NO MORE
★ Comparisons made in case after case show that it costs no more—and often less—to bring out prescriptions here, to Headquarters. And while you pay no more, we sincerely believe that you get more—in service and in assurance.

Prescriptions are our primary interest. We compound many of them. Thus we are enabled to supply the full line of skilled registered pharmacists. Moreover, rapid turnover of stocks assures fresh, potent drugs, including many rare items not generally available.

QUESTIONING

What wrongs have bred this fear of men

In living creatures, great and small,

That they will flee for cover when

They sight the mildest of us all?

The cardinal will hush his song

Or leave the corn which I bestow

The instant that I come along,

As if I were his bitterest foe.

Why this instinctive fear of man?

And was it so ere guns were

When first the humna race began

Were all things else of it afraid?

Was there a time when man could pace

And not a creature quit his place

Or take to flight or haste away?

Has man so foully dealt with bird

And beast and all things wild and free

That let his footstep but be heard

Instinctively from him they flee?

Today's Talk

ADVENTURING INTO THE

UNEXPECTED

I have just finished reading a rare,

spicy, brief book—"My Unconsidered Judgment," by Noel P. Busch, the editor of Life magazine. He wouldn't need to be editor of anything if he would give all his time to the writing of such books as this, for, as a morale builder, he would be put on a high pinnacle.

He left home and started for South America for a trip around a

might at least discover one World!

—but ran into scores of them! He by-pathed nothing that scented a

University let this author loose some time ago, but I don't think he needed even Princeton. He was born with something rare in his blood, and this book, as well as his

is a delight to the mind, with something of rare vintage thrown in to comfort the soul.

Smuts, Sir Arthur Tedder, Ibn

Saud, Anthony Eden, and Jack

firmament of brilliant entertain-

enough. Why are long books written anyway?

The closing chapter of this intriguing little book is far from being less interesting than the other part.

In fact it has a spark of genius to it! Mr. Busch's suggestions as to the handling of Germany, whose

"ideal of endless war" has so troubled

and his suggestion to make northern

Africa and the lower Mediterranean

the parking grounds for future wars has a good idea hidden away in it.

Thus, "eventually," says this

tirely, of no more consequence than

States soldiers now set off in Hyde Park, London, to commemorate the United States Revolution."

I shall read Mr. Busch's "future books with relish, even though I may not agree with his conclusions.

We need such writers to keep our minds on even keel as we are ferried through life.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Merit System"

POLITICAL RACE
HEATED BY PAC
ROLE IN NATION(By The Associated Press)
Political temperature rose today in the midst of an almost country-wide cool wave as the hour neared for formal opening of the fall presidential and congressional campaigns.

Generating much partisan heat was Sidney Hillman's CIO political action committee. Hillman, himself, told a House campaign funds committee that the PAC, while supporting the Roosevelt-Truman ticket, was not trying to "capture" either the Democratic or Republican party and would adhere to campaign expenditure laws. He denied the PAC is "Communist-engineered," asserting:

"I'm opposed to Communism because I'm opposed to all totalitarianism—even in industry."

Says PAC Is "Non-Partisan"
He promised to give reports on progress of a drive to raise a campaign fund of $5,000,000 in one-dollar subscriptions from CIO members.

He said the PAC is backing the Roosevelt-Truman ticket and seeks to elect a "progressive congress." He emphasized, however, that it will not contribute funds to the Democratic national committee.

The PAC, he said is non-partisan and might support a Republican in any given campaign. In fact, he said, the CIO in 1937 gave $5,000 to support Gov. Dewey in the New York gubernatorial race.

The House committee meanwhile went on to a general search for "slush funds," calling on both industry and labor for details of contributions to the presidential campaign.

Flashes Of Life

RANDOM HARVEST

Newton, N. C. (AP)—A farmer agreed to cut a neighbor's hay field for a share of the crop. Two days later he returned to rake and bale the hay.

In the field he was greeted by another man who told him, "Thank you for cutting my hay. With all the labor shortage I didn't know how I was going to get it cut."

The farmer had cut the wrong field.

LOOKS LIKE A COLD WINTER

New York (AP)—Junior may have to go to school minus underwear and his sister may be wearing last year's cotton dresses. But with coats, they'll be better off than baby brother with the prospect of only a dozen diapers.

This prospect is the result of a survey of the infants' and children's clothing situation, which the trade said was very tight.

DROWNS ON FURLOUGH

Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (AP)—Seaman 1/C John J. Rodgers, of 22 W. Basin avenue, Norristown, was drowned Saturday in Candlewood Lake, New Milford, Conn., while on furlough, the Fourth Naval District announced today.

Nazis Lose 122,000
Soldiers In Traps

British Headquarters Near the Seine, Aug. 29 (AP)—Allied troops killed or captured 122,000 Germans in traps southwest of the lower Seine last week, ripping Von Kluge's Seventh Army into all but worthless shreds, British Second Army headquarters disclosed today.

Some 92,000 were captured between Aug. 20-25 and 30,000 were estimated to have been killed.

Even this huge bag has been swelled during the last three days and will grow again today as troops complete mopping up the last three remaining pockets in Seine river loops south and west of Rouen.

The trapped Germans have been fighting back with the desperation of trapped animals.

GIVEN CMH FOR HEROISM IN AIR

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP) — The Congressional Medal of Honor has been awarded a 21-year-old soldier who although wounded in the chest, eyes and both legs drove off German planes from his bomber, repaired and manned the radio and then saved the life of an injured tail gunner.

The citation, accompanying the medal of Tech. Sgt. Forrest L. Vosler, of Livonia, New York, now convalescing in the Valley Forge General hospital at Phoenixville, Pa., for "conspicuous gallantry in action against the enemy above and beyond the call of duty" last December 20 read in part:

"A 20-mm. cannon shell exploded in the radio compartment, painfully wounding Sergeant Vosler in the legs and thighs. At about the same time a direct hit on the tail of the ship seriously wounded the tail gunner. x x x Vosler kept up a steady stream of fire. x x x Another 20-mm shell exploded, wounding Vosler in the chest and about the face. Pieces of metal lodged in both eyes. x x x Unable to see and working entirely by touch, Vosler finally got the radio set operating and sent out distress signals despite several lapses into unconsciousness.

"x x x When the ship 'ditched,' Vosler managed to get out on the wing by himself and hold the wounded tail gunner from slipping off until the other crew members could help them into a dinghy."

After the tail gunner and Vosler had been injured, the young sergeant's plane companions said, Vosler argued that to throw him overboard would lighten the plane by 175 pounds."

Property Transfers

The following deeds were on file today at the court house:

Charles M. Rhine, of Clearfield, and Harry J. and Samuel D. Rhine, of Gettysburg, to George W. Bishop, a lot in Gettysburg.

Clayton E. Topper, Straban township, to Richard L. and Ada F. Noel, Hanover, a property on the south side of the Lincoln Highway in Straban township.

Esther K. and Truman L. Grogan, Huntingtown township to Vernon P. Stambaugh, East Berlin R. 1, a property of approximately 82 acres in Reading township.

BIG POWERS IN
SECURITY PACT

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Dumbarton Oaks conferees announced today "general agreement" in the form of an international security organization, including a council composed of big powers plus a number of smaller nations.

The conferees declined to amplify the announcement made or to say specifically in a joint statement what authority should be given to the small powers on the council in relation to the big nations.

The joint statement said: "After a week of discussions, the three heads of delegations are happy to announce that there is general agreement among them to recommend that the proposed international organization for peace and security should provide for:

"1. An assembly composed of representatives of all peace-loving nations based on the principle of sovereign equality.

"2. A council composed of a smaller number of members in which the principal states will be joined by a number of other states to be elected periodically.

"3. Effective means for the peaceful settlement of disputes, including an international court of justice for the adjudication of justiciable questions, and also the application of such other means as may be necessary for maintenance of peace and security.

"The delegations are continuing to discuss the structure and jurisdiction of the various organs and methods of procedure.

IN TRAINING FOR SERVICE ON LSM

Now rated as Seaman Second Class, McIntyre is undergoing intensive training to serve as Radioman on one of the seagoing invasion vessels.

LSM's are now joining the amphibious fleets in large numbers, and are counted upon to play a leading part in the Allies' plan of victory. They combine the best features of the 328-foot LST (Landing Ship, Tank) and the smaller LCT (Landing Craft, Tank), with the added advantage of superior speed and cruising range. LSM's can carry battle equipment across the oceans and discharge their cargoes directly on to enemy-held shores.

McIntyre attended Gettysburg high school.

Mildred McIntyre, a sister, is a member of the U. S. Army Nurse Corps. They are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. McIntyre, 141 East Water street.

51 IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (AP) — The temperature slumped to 51 at 6 a. m. Monday, making it the coldest Aug. 28 on record. By 10 a. m., however, the reading was 65.

Receives Third
Oak Leaf ClusterFifteenth AAF in Italy (By Mail)
—Staff Sergeant James C. Black, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Black, Aspers, has been awarded the third Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal it has been announced by 15th Army Air Force headquarters.

In the words of the citation, Sergeant Black was awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster "for meritorious achievement in aerial flight while participating in sustained operational activities against the enemy." A tail turret gunner, Sergeant Black is stationed in Italy with a 15th AAF Liberator Bombardment Group which has been bombing German held targets in Europe.

Prior to entering the Armed Forces, Sergeant Black was employed in Mechanicsburg. He has been serving with the Air Force since March 1, 1943.

Defense Corps To Mobilize Sept. 13

Harrisburg, Aug. 29 (AP)—State-wide mobilization of Pennsylvania's Citizens' Defense Corps has been ordered by the State Defense Council for September 13.

The order was issued by Col. Lynn C. Adams, commander of the council's protective services, through Col. Ralph M. Mitchell, state control center head.

The mobilization will give officials an opportunity to inspect property and equipment and to check with individual identification cards and armbands. The inspection will also be extended to include a check of allocated federal property such as helmets and gas masks.

TWO BROTHERS KILLED

Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (AP) — The War Department notified Mr. and Mrs. George Woodson that their son, Pfc. Charles Woodson, 26, has been killed in France. His brother, Pfc. William, 22, was killed in Italy last November.

Idaho comes from the Indian "edah hoe" meaning "light on the mountains."

Bulgaria Is Now
Seeking Armistice

Washington, Aug. 29 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull reported Monday that Bulgarian officials have been in touch with Allied governments on the question of making an armistice. He said he did not know whether American officials had been among those contacted.

In the case of Romania, which has already turned on German troops and declared its intention to fight on the Allied side, Hull said that this government had been kept advised, mainly by Russian officials, of the progress toward making armistice arrangements.

Early experiments in dive-bombing were conducted by U. S. Marines in Haiti in 1920.

NO MORE

★ Comparisons made in case after case show that it costs no more—and often less—to bring your prescriptions here, to Headquarters. And while you pay no more, we sincerely believe that you get more—in service and in assurance.

Prescriptions are our primary interest. We compound many of them. Thus we are enabled to employ the full time of skilled registered pharmacists. Moreover, rapid turnover of stocks assures fresh, potent drugs, including many rare items not generally available.

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Harvey Beamer, who passed away one year ago today, Aug. 29, 1943.

Gone but not forgotten—Mother Dear, who was always near and dear to us. But we love you with our tender care. Cause we cannot view your face. In the blessings of death May you glimpse heaven's care.

Mother, we know you are slipping May the good shepherd love too. Cause we miss you at the table. Mother, we see your vacant chair. Cause we soon will face that judgment day. For our days are numbered with the rest.

For we know you need these restful days. Just keep on resting, Mother dear. May you enjoy each quiet hour. For there will be no other to take your place. Cause we know the dear Lord is with you. Mother dear, Gone but not forgotten by your two daughters, Mrs. Martin Heller, Mrs. John McKinney.

MISCELLANEOUS

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear Mother, Mrs. Harvey Beamer, who was called away one year ago, Aug. 29, 1943.

One sad year has passed since that sad day.

The one we loved was called away. God took her home, it was his will. But in our hearts, she liveth still.

Dear Mother you are not forgotten. Though on earth you are no more. We never shall forget the day. When our darling Mother went away.

The sunshine left our home. The one so dearly loved by all. Farewell dear Mother, you could not stay with us.

But we can come home with thee. By her daughter, Mrs. Edgar Warren.

IN MEMORIAM

Remembrance of Mrs. Harvey Beamer, who passed away one year today, Aug. 29, 1943.

To My Dear Wife. Way down deep in the heart of you. A happy song is sung endlessly. Because for you there's love so true. Way down deep in the hearts for you.

Outlining the purposes of the farm woodland management program of the Soil Conservation Service, he explained that he is attempting to get farmers in this county to regard their woodlot as "another field which can produce an annual crop and provide an annual income if managed properly."

Much Lumber Cut

He disclosed that more than 1,250,000 board feet of lumber have been selectively cut and nearly another million feet are marked and ready for cutting in this county this year.

Lumber worth more than $50,000 has been harvested while the stand of timber and growth rate in the farm woodlots have been improved at the same time, he declared. "The 40,000 acres of woodland in this county have great possibilities in the future when wood and its products are going to play an important role," he concluded.

President J. Milton Bender presided at the meeting with about 30 Lions and guests in attendance. Guests included C. S. Kimes, Ardmore, and Dr. James Martin, West Broadway.

The clubmen voted to omit the meeting on Labor Day and announced a ladies' night for September 11 when a chicken dinner will be served by the ladies of Mr. Joy Lutheran church in the Parish hall.

STATE CHESS

(Continued From Page 1) 6 p. m. 8 p. m. to midnight. Monday: 8 a. m. to noon; 2 p. m. to 6 p. m., at which time the winner will be announced.

In the event there are any unfinished games at the hour fixed for closing each session the tournament director will judge the match at that hour and designate the winner of that game.

When Mr. Kolanowski won the world's championship as a blindfold player, he played 34 simultaneous games, won 23 and drew in 11 contests.

Collect Scrap

(Continued From Page 1) newspapers, magazines, cartons and packages, wrapping paper, old envelopes and wastebasket paper—all kinds of paper excepting waxed paper—for the collectors that will cover every street in the town.

Tin cans and other salvage metals will be collected as usual but the current acute shortage of paper to meet the vast civilian and military needs has made waste paper the most important item on the scrap list for the August drive.

Salvage Chairman Vernon Corle of the fire company asks that householders place the scrap on the curbs in front of their homes so that the collectors may pick it up quickly and conveniently. Waste paper should be bundled with magazines and cardboard tied separately.

Last month nearly nine tons of scrap paper were collected here by the firemen for one of the best monthly records since the scrap campaign was taken over by the firemen. The greatest amount gathered in any single collection amounted to about 11 tons. Mr. Corle said today.

Appealing to Gettysburgians to help make the August scrap collection here a record-breaker, Chairman Corle declared: "Everybody knows of the thousands of commercial uses for paper and paper products in civilian life but all of these, important as they are, must take second place to the military needs for paper for blood plasma containers, ammunition boxes and packing, food containers and a thousand other uses on the battle fronts and in rear hospitals. All of us can make a real and direct contribution to the war effort by saving waste paper and contributing it to the salvage campaign."

Lucky's Case

by MARTHA PREWITT

Chapter 21

As Lucky and Thad went down the steps to the launch, curious glances followed their departure. Di was there, leaning on the rail, her hair a halo against the light, her face in shadow. Her eyes followed them to the dock, along it to the end where Thad had a carriage. The expression in them didn't change, but on the railing her long nails dug at the varnish. Without turning her head, she watched the carriage move slowly down the waterfront.

And it was then she saw the square of light through the open companionway of the tiny sloop Liza at the next dock. She looked at it a long time. Slowly, imperceptibly, her expression altered. There was purpose in it now.

In a carriage, festive with red curtains and white fringe, Thad and Lucky drove through the night, and Thad pulled her arm through his and said, "I never knew till tonight you were beautiful, Lucky. Dumb of me!"

Lucky couldn't answer. It was sweet torment to be with Thad, like this—and yet, to hold back, hanging on to every shred of her control. She wanted to let herself go, to tell him she loved him, but caution was too strong. Twice she'd blundered. She wouldn't let it happen again. Not till he said, "I love you."

They passed lighted windows and doorways—soft yellow squares in the darkness—and saw laughter and love-making and sleeping children. And Thad said, "Lucky, you don't mind, do you?" slipping his arm around her so that she rested above his heart. It was like cannonading under her ear. She could hardly hear the clomp-clomp of the horse's feet on the cobble stones. And that other roaring was her own blood pounding. She had to keep herself in hand at any cost. She tried to say, but failed.

He put his cheek against her hair. "Such loveliness," he said, resting his lips on her forehead. His other hand covered both of hers. She waited, not able to move, her heart crying for his lips on hers, her mind crying to force her will to move away before it was too late. Because she knew that he would bend his head, as he did, and put his lips finally on hers.

The earth melted away under her. She was floating in an ecstasy, so bright it blinded her. Stars blazed there, and planets flared incandescent. It was breathless and beautiful. And then—

Cold reason threw water on the fire. This was what she'd steeled herself against. He didn't care about her. He hadn't said, "I love you." She'd let him kiss her, as she had before, because she was so weak, because she wanted him to. The stars exploded in crashing chaos.

She jerked herself free. "I shouldn't have done that!" She was harsh with emotion. "I—I want to go back to the hotel—at once!" Her one thought was to get to safety before she melted completely, acknowledging a love that had never been asked for.

Thad stared down at her. "What's the matter, Lucky? You don't want me to kiss you?"

"I have to get back! Really I do. I have to!" Urgency was in her voice.

"Ooay!" He clipped it out brusquely, and gave the driver directions in a voice suddenly hard. He was hurt, but she couldn't say anything to him, in her panic to get away—away from Thad whom she loved so much it was agony to be with him.

At the hotel she slipped out from her side of the carriage before he could move. "Please don't bother to come in with me." She ran blindly into the lobby.

But in her room Lucky had a wholly feminine reaction. As she undressed she went back over every word Thad had said, every gesture he'd made; she realized he might have been trying to tell her that he loved her. He might! He might! He wouldn't have taken her away from the dance like that—if he hadn't!

There was a knock on her door. Di's voice asked, "Still up, Lucky? May I come in?"

She wanted to say, "No." But she couldn't be rude. She went to the door.

Di took a quick look at her, and though her expression didn't change, it seemed to set in stiffer lines. Di said casually, "You and Thad have a nice drive? Lovely night for it. We enjoyed it so much last night. I told him he ought to take you." She looked at the cigarette she was tapping on a bright thumbnail.

Lucky had bent to put on her bedroom slippers. Di's lying, she decided. It gave her courage. Di wouldn't lie unless she was unsure of her own ground. She said, "It was nice."

Di yawned elaborately. "Then it was much better than my evening."

BANK WIDE OPEN

New York (AP)—The main door of a downtown bank stood ajar throughout the week-end, but police and bank officials found nothing missing. The open door was not even noticed until discovered by a window cleaner who called police. The mystery was cleared up by the bank porter who said he forgot to lock it Saturday.

But that's what you get for being philanthropic.

Lucky slipped into her dark cotton pajamas, not asking the question Di'd meant her to ask.

Di said, "Those atrocious night things, darling! Couldn't you use some—let me give you some. About tonight—since you insist on knowing—I took poor Joe out to celebrate."

Lucky's head came around with a jerk. "You've been out—with Joe?"

Di's silky eyebrows rose. "Don't tell me you mind! I assure you he was very dull, especially after he got drunk."

"You were out with Joe? And he broke his resolution not to touch liquor?" Lucky exclaimed.

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Harvey Beamer, who passed away one year ago today, Aug. 29, 1943.

Gone but not forgotten—Mother Dear. Who was always near and dear to us. But we love you with our tender care. Cause we cannot view your face. In the blessings of death. May you glimpse heaven's care.

Mother, we know you are slipping. May the good shepherd love too. Cause we miss you at the table. Mother we see your vacant chair. Cause we soon will face that judgment day. For our days are numbered with the rest.

For we know you need these restful days. Just keep on resting Mother dear. May you enjoy each quiet hour. For there will be no other to take your place.

Cause we know the dear Lord is with you Mother dear. Gone but not forgotten by your two daughters.

MISCELLANEOUS

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear Mother, Mrs. Harvey Beamer, who was called away one year ago, Aug. 29, 1943.

One sad year has passed since that sad day. The one we loved was called away. God took her home, it was his will. But in our hearts, she liveth still.

Dear Mother you are not forgotten. Though on earth you are no more. We never shall forget the day. When our darling Mother went away.

The sunshine left our home. The one so dearly loved by all. Farewell dear Mother, you could not stay with us.

saver that has recently been put into use here, he said.

Outlining the purposes of the farm woodlot management program of the Soil Conservation Service, he explained that he is attempting to get farmers in this county to regard their woodlot as "another field which can produce an annual crop and provide an annual income if managed properly."

Much Lumber Cut

He disclosed that more than 1,250,000 board feet of lumber have been selectively cut and nearly another million feet are marked and ready for cutting in this county this year. Lumber worth more than $50,000 has been harvested while the stand of timber and growth rate in the farm woodlots have been improved at the same time, he declared.

"The 40,000 acres of woodland in this county have great possibilities in the future when wood and its products are going to play an important role," he concluded.

President J. Milton Bender presided at the meeting with about 30 Lions and guests in attendance. Guests included C. S. Kimes, Ardmore, and Dr. James Martin, West Broadway.

The clubmen voted to omit the meeting on Labor Day and announced a ladies' night for September 11 when a chicken dinner will be served by the ladies of Mt. Joy Lutheran church in the Parish hall.

STATE CHESS

6 p. m.; 8 p. m. to midnight. Monday: 8 a. m. to noon; 2 p. m. to 6 p. m., at which time the winner will be announced.

In the event there are any unfinished games at the hour fixed for closing each session the tournament director will judge the match at that hour and designate the winner of that game.

When Mr. Koltanowski won the world's championship as a blindfold player, he played 34 simultaneous games, won 23 and drew in 11 contests.

newspapers, magazines, cartons and packages, wrapping paper, old envelopes and wastebasket paper—all kinds of paper excepting waxed paper—for the collectors that will cover every street in the town.

Tin cans and other salvage metals will be collected as usual but the current acute shortage of paper to meet the vast civilian and military needs has made waste paper the most important item on the scrap list for the August drive.

Salvage Chairman Vernon Corie of the fire company asks that householders place the scrap on the curbs in front of their homes so that the collectors may pick it up quickly and conveniently. Waste paper should be bundled with magazines and cardboard tied separately.

Last month nearly nine tons of scrap paper were collected here by the firemen for one of the best monthly records since the scrap campaign was taken over by the firemen. The greatest amount gathered in any single collection amounted to about 11 tons, Mr. Corie said today.

Appealing to Gettysburgians to help make the August scrap collection here a record-breaker, Chairman Corie declared: "Everybody knows of the thousands of commercial uses for paper and paper products in civilian life but all of these, important as they are, must take second place to the military needs for paper for blood plasma containers, ammunition boxes and packing, food containers and a thousand other uses on the battlefronts and in war hospitals. All of us can make a real and direct contribution to the war effort by saving waste paper and contributing it to the salvage campaign."

CUPID'S CASTA

by MARTHA PREWITT

Chapter 21

As Lucky and Thad went down the steps to the launch, curious glances followed their departure. Di was there, leaning on the rail, her hair a halo against the light, her face in shadow. Her eyes followed them to the dock, along it to the end where Thad hailed a carriage. The expression in them didn't change, but on the railing her long nails dug at the varnish. Without turning her head, she watched the carriage move slowly down the waterfront.

And it was then she saw the square of light through the open companionway of the tiny sloop Liza at the next dock. She looked at it a long time. Slowly, imperceptibly, her expression altered. There was purpose in it now.

In a carriage, festive with red curtains and white fringe, Thad and Lucky drove through the night, and Thad pulled her arm through his and said, "I never knew till tonight you were beautiful, Lucky. Dumb of me!"

Lucky couldn't answer. It was sweet torment to be with Thad like this—and yet to hold back, hanging on to every shred of her control. She wanted to let herself go, to tell him she loved him, but caution was too strong. Twice she'd blundered. She wouldn't let it happen again. Not till he said, "I love you."

They passed lighted windows and doorways—soft yellow squares in the darkness—and saw laughter and love-making and sleeping children. And Thad said, "Lucky, you don't mind, do you?" slipping his arm around her so that she rested above his heart. It was like cannonading under her ear. She could hardly hear the clatter of the horse's feet on the cobble stones. And that other roaring was her own blood pounding. She had to keep herself in hand at any cost. She tried to stir, but failed.

He put his cheek against her hair. "Such loveliness," he said, resting his lips on her forehead. His other hand covered both of hers. She waited, not able to move, her heart crying for his lips on hers, her mind trying to force her will to move away before it was too late. Because she knew that he would bend his head, as he did, and put his lips finally on hers.

The earth melted away under her. She was floating in an ecstasy so bright it blinded her. Stars blazed there, and planets flared incandescent. It was breathless and beautiful. And then—

Cold reason threw water on the firmament. This was what she'd steeled herself against. He didn't care about her. He hadn't said, "I love you." She'd let him kiss her, as she had before, because she was so weak, because she wanted him to. The stars exploded in crashing chaos.

She jerked herself free. "I shouldn't have done that!" She was harsh with emotion. "I—I want to go back to the hotel—at once!" Her one thought was to get to safety before she melted completely, acknowledging a love that had never been asked for.

Thad stared down at her. "What's the matter, Lucky? You don't want me to kiss you?"

"I have to get back! Really I do. I have to!" Urgency was in her voice.

"Okay!" He clipped it out brusquely, and gave the driver directions in a voice suddenly hard. He was hurt, but she couldn't say anything to him, in her panic to get away—away from Thad whom she loved so much it was agony to be with him.

At the hotel she slipped out from her side of the carriage before he could move. "Please don't bother to come in with me." She ran blindly into the lobby.

But in her room Lucky had a wholly feminine reaction. As she undressed she went back over every word Thad had said, every gesture he'd made; she realized he might have been trying to tell her that he loved her. He might! He might! He wouldn't have taken her away from the dance like that—if he hadn't!

There was a knock on her door. Di's voice asked, "Still up, Lucky? May I come in?"

She wanted to say, "No." But she couldn't be rude. She went to the door.

Di took a quick look at her, and though her expression didn't change, it seemed to set in stiffer lines. Di said casually, "You and Thad have a nice drive? Lovely night for it. We enjoyed it so much last night, I told him he ought to take you." She looked at the cigarette she was tapping on a bright thumbnail.

Lucky had bent to put on her bedroom slippers. Di's lying, she decided. It gave her courage. Di wouldn't lie unless she were unsure of her own ground. She said, "It was nice."

Di yawned elaborately. "Then it was much better than my evening."

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Harvey Beamer, who passed away one year ago today, Aug. 29, 1943.

Gone but not forgotten—Mother Dear, Who was always near and dear to us. But we love you with our tender care. Cause we cannot view your face. In the blessings of death's care. May you glimpse heaven's care.

Mother, we know you are slipping. May the good shepherd love too. Cause we miss you at the table. Mother we see your vacant chair. Cause we soon will face that judg-ment day. For our days are numbered with the rest.

For we know you need these restful days. Just keep on resting, Mother dear. May you enjoy each quiet hour. For there will be no other to take your place.

Cause we know the dear Lord is with you. Mother dear. Gone but not forgotten by your two daughters.

Mrs. Martin Heller
Mrs. John McKinney

MISCELLANEOUS

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear Mother, Mrs. Harvey Beamer, who was called away one year ago, Aug. 29, 1943.

One sad year has passed since that sad day. The one we loved was called away. God took her home, it was his will. But in our hearts, she liveth still.

Dear Mother you are not forgotten. Though on earth you are no more. We never shall forget the day. When our darling Mother went away.

The sunshine left our home. The one so dearly loved by all. Farewell dear Mother, you could not stay with us. But we can come home with thee. By her daughter
Mrs. Edgar Warren

IN MEMORIAM

Remembrance of Mrs. Harvey Beamer, who passed away one year today, Aug. 29, 1943.

To My Dear Wife
Way down deep in the heart of you. A happy song is sung endlessly. Because for you there's love so true. Way down deep in the hearts for you.

By H. S. Beamer

There was a knock on her door. Di's voice asked, "Still up, Lucky? May I come in?"

She wanted to say, "No." But she couldn't be rude. She went to the door.

Di took a quick look at her, and though her expression didn't change, it seemed to set in stiffer lines. Di said casually, "You and Thad have a nice drive? Lovely night for it. We enjoyed it so much last night. I told him he ought to take you." She looked at the cigarette she was tapping on a bright thumbnail.

Lucky had bent to put on her bedroom slippers. Di's lying, she decided. It gave her courage. Di wouldn't lie unless she were unsure of her own ground. She said, "It was nice."

Di yawned elaborately. "Then it was much better than my evening."

He put his cheek against her hair. "Such loveliness," he said, resting his lips on her forehead. His other hand covered both of hers. She waited, not able to move, her heart crying for his lips on hers, her mind trying to force her will to move away before it was too late. Because she knew that he would bend his head, as he did, and put his lips finally on hers.

The earth melted away under her. She was floating in an ecstasy so bright it blinded her. Stars blazed there, and planets flared incandescent. It was breathless and beautiful. And then—

Cold reason threw water on the firmament. This was what she'd steered herself against. He didn't care about her. He hadn't said, "I love you." She'd let him kiss her, as she had before, because she was so weak, because she wanted him to. The stars exploded in crashing chaos.

She jerked herself free. "I shouldn't have done that!" She was harsh with emotion. "I-I want to go back to the hotel—at once!" Her one thought was to get to safety before she melted completely, acknowledging a love that had never been asked for.

Thad stared down at her. "What's the matter, Lucky? You don't want me to kiss you?"

"I have to get back! Really I do. I have to!" Urgency was in her voice.

"Okay!" He clipped it out brusquely, and gave the driver directions in a voice suddenly hard. He was hurt, but she couldn't say anything to him, in her panic to get away—away from Thad whom she loved so much it was agony to be with him.

At the hotel she slipped out from her side of the carriage before he could move. "Please don't bother to come in with me!" She ran blindly into the lobby.

But in her room Lucky had a wholly feminine reaction. As she undressed she went back over every word Thad had said, every gesture he'd made; she realized he might have been trying to tell her that he loved her. He might! He might! He wouldn't have taken her away from the dance like that—if he hadn't—

ST. LOUIS, SOX, TIGERS, YANKS, SEEK PITCHER

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
World series talk was legitimate business in four American league clubhouses today after a routine post-season planning session in Commissioner K. M. Landis' office but the four contenders were more interested in vacuum-cleaning the bushes, looking for another starting pitcher.

If there was a footloose hurler in the minors who could win in the big show, operators of the St. Louis Browns, Boston Red Sox, New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers would be very much interested.

Experiments were the rule, rather than the exception, as the clubs battled into the final five weeks of the season with only four games separating the Yanks and Tigers, tied for third, from the pace-setting Browns.

Rookies Meet Today
Boston tried Rex Cecil from San Diego with so-so success, two won and two lost, and was ready to gamble again today on Clem Dreier, acquired from Sacramento at a fancy price tag. Dreier's record at a fancy price tag. Dreier's record at a fancy price tag.

Pitching promises to be the decisive factor in the stretch drive, when the Browns and Tigers will enjoy long home stands. The St. Louis team, idle yesterday, moved to Cleveland for two games before heading home to tackle Detroit in another vital series but heard bad news from the club doctor who said Bob Muncrief would be lost for a week or 10 days with a sore arm.

Sox Gain Second
Boston took over second place by clubbing the Yanks, 7-4, in the only game in the Harridge loop yesterday. Red Barrett, who relieved Yank Terry in the fourth, picked up his 8th win at Bill Zuber's expense. The Red Sox pitchers "axed" 13 men but left 14 New Yorkers stranded in a 6-1½ effort.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who have nothing more serious to do than get ready for the opening of the series at Sportsman's park, Wednesday, Oct. 4, came up with three runs in the last of the ninth to shade Cincinnati 3-2. Mort Cooper, notched his 100th big league triumph and 19th of the year with the help of Kenny O'Dea's two-run punch homer. Harry Gumbert was the Cincy loser.

Pittsburgh at Chicago, the only other scheduled game, was washed out.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Aug. 29 (AP)—The recently-revised discussion of whether match play provides a true test of golfing ability, leaves this corner cold . . . The argument against match play is that a player can blow a couple of holes with 7's or 6's and still win . . . But in a 72-hole medal tournament, the guy who ruins a round that way still has three chances to make it up, so what's the difference . . . After expending a lot of thought on a scoring system that would give credit both for match-play victories and medal scores, we found no way of making allowances for the ability to win when the chips are down, and its human fallibility that makes golf interesting . . . Any good mechanic could devise a machine that would shoot better than Byron Nelson, but no-one would put up $10,000 prize money for it to win.

HELL WHISTLE FOR IT
Bill Hells, who takes his money out of oil and puts it into horses, has made a pet of his $55,000 colt, Pericles, that the horse follows him around Rameocas farm and responds eagerly when Hells whistles . . . When Bill was showing off the horse's tricks to a group of visiting newspapermen the other day, one sour scribe wise-cracked: "If he ever wants to win a race, he'll have to stand at the finish line and whistle."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Blake Harper, concessions manager at Sportsman's park, is moaning about the prospective shortage of pop corn for the World Series . . . What could be worse is an over-supply of pop files . . . Middletown, George Kochan, recently discharged from the Coast Guard, has received enough offers to keep him busy fighting every ten days all winter . . . Marine trainee Ed Bush, who'll play tackle for Penn State this fall, will be performing for his third alma mater. He captained the Minnesota freshmen in 1942 and played for Northwestern last year . . . Tip: the Navy grid squad is so strong that Ralph Ellsworth, a regular at Texas U. last season, isn't working with either of the first two backfields.

MAY IN AUGUST
Before he started holding those Tam O'Shanter golf tournaments, George May hired a crew of researchers who looked at weather records for 20 years and picked mid-July dawns as the best for golf. . . As long as he stuck to those dates, the weather was fine, but this year George had to switch to uninvestigated August and ran into a rainstorm on the big day of the tournament.

SERVICE DEPT.
A recent change in Navy regulations should help the pre-flight schools during their early grid games. It says that future pilots, after completing their courses, will be pooled at the pre-flights instead of at primary stations . . . Sgt. Dave Rowe, who followed the Kearns Field, Utah, Eagles to Wichita, Kas., for the national semi-pro baseball journey, reports there were more major leaguers playing there than in the big leagues. The service teams included about 100 players with big league experience while the majors hardly can boast that many genuine big leaguers.

Because of the present critical tire shortage...

Please DON'T TRAVEL OVER LABOR DAY!

Hundreds of buses needed in war effort are today standing idle due to lack of tires

In the whole period of the war this Labor Day will be the most critical for transportation. Intercity buses simply cannot carry all the people who will need or want to travel—because hundreds of these buses are temporarily standing idle, without tires.

Your help is needed in meeting this crisis. Even if your Labor Day trip is highly essential, postpone it a few days if you possibly can. If you must go, please be prepared for possible delays and unavoidable crowding.

Nothing would give us greater pleasure than to serve you now—but the urgent needs of war come first. We know you will understand and cooperate as you have always done. We feel sure that it won't be long until all our buses are back in service. With a proud war record behind them, and an urgent job of transporting manpower still ahead, America's buses must be kept rolling!

GET SOME DOLLARS IN RESERVE

You can't afford to spend all of the good income which you are earning today because there may be some "lean days" ahead for you. It is best to make sure of your future by saving regularly now. If you do you will be in a better position to protect yourself and advance yourself because of this money in a reserve bank account.

This 87-year-old bank offers you the opportunity to accumulate such a reserve in an interest-bearing savings account.

ST. LOUIS, SOX, TIGERS, YANKS, SEEK PITCHER

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
World series talk was legitimate business in four American league clubhouses today after a routine post-season planning session in Commissioner K. M. Landis' office but the four contenders were more interested in vacuum-cleaning the bushes, looking for another starting pitcher.

If there was a footloose hurler in the minors who could win in the big show, operators of the St. Louis Browns, Boston Red Sox, New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers would be very much interested.

Experiments were the rule, rather than the exception, as the clubs battled into the final five weeks of the season with only four games separating the Yankees and Tigers, tied for third, from the pace-setting Browns.

Rookies Meet Today
Boston tried Rex Cecil from San Diego with so-so success, two won and two lost, and was ready to gamble again today on Clem Dreisewer, acquired from Sacramento at a fancy price tag. Dreisewer's first opponent was to be Floyd (Bill) Bevens, whom the Yankees had just pulled back from their Newark farm where he had won 10 in a row. New York also had installed rookie Mel Queen from Newark as a regular starter in the battle royal windup.

St. Louis went down to the Southern association and back several years to pick up Willis Hudlin, the former Cleveland Indian with his famous "sinker." Detroit still looked high and low for help to bolster Hal Newhouse and Dizzy Trout, the 21-win twins, despite Stubby Overmire's sudden flash of form over the week-end.

Pitching promises to be the decisive factor in the stretch drive when the Browns and Tigers will enjoy long home stands. The St. Louis team, idle yesterday, moved to Cleveland for two games before heading home to tackle Detroit in another vital series but heard bad news from the club doctor who said Bob Muncief would be lost for a week or 10 days with a sore arm.

Sox Gain Second
Boston took over second place by clubbing the Yankees, 7-4, in the only game in the Harbridge loop yesterday. Red Barrett, who relieved Yank Terry in the fourth, picked up his 8th win at Bill Zuber's expense. The Red Sox pitchers walked 13 men but left 14 New Yorkers stranded in a 6-hit effort.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who have nothing more serious to do than get ready for the opening of the series at Sportsman's park, Wednesday, Oct. 4, came up with three runs in the last of the ninth to shade Cincinnati 3-2. Mort Cooper, notched his 100th big league triumph and 19th of the year with the help of Kenny O'Dea's two-run pinch homer. Harry Gumbert was the Cincy loser.

Pittsburgh at Chicago, the only other scheduled game, was washed out.

The only ancient library in which the books have been found intact was at Herculaneum, and contained about 1,800 volumes.

HELL WHISTLE FOR IT
Bill Helis, who takes his money out of oil and puts it into horses, has made a pet of his $66,000 colt, Pericles, that the horse follows him around Rancocas farm and responds, eagerly when Helis whistles . . . When Bill was showing off the horse's tricks to a group of visiting newspapermen the other day, one sour scribe wise-cracked: "If he ever wants to win a race, he'll have to stand at the finish line and whistle."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Blake Harper, concessions manager at Sportsman's park, is moaning about the prospective shortage of pop corn for the World Series . . . What could be worse is an over-supply of pop files . . . Middletown George Kochan, recently discharged from the Coast Guard, has received enough offers to keep him busy fighting every ten days all winter . . . Marine trainee Ed Bush, who'll play tackle for Penn State this fall, will be performing for his third alma mater. He captained the Minnesota freshmen in 1942 and played for Northwestern last year . . . Tip: The Navy grid squad is so strong that Ralph Ellsworth, a regular at Texas U. last season, isn't working with either of the first two backfields.

MAY IN AUGUST
Before he started holding those Tam O'Shanter golf tournaments, George May hired a crew of researchers who looked at weather records for 20 years and picked mid-July dates as the best for golf . . . As long as he stuck to those dates, the weather was fine, but this year George had to switch to uninvestigated August and ran into a rainstorm on the big day of the tournament.

SERVICE DEPT.
A recent change in Navy regulations should help the pre-flight schools during their early grid games. It says that future pilots, after completing their courses, will be pooled at the pre-flights instead of at primary stations . . . Sgt. Dave Rowe, who followed the Kearns Field, Utah, Eagles to Wichita, Kas., for the national semi-pro baseball tourney, reports there were more major leaguers playing there than in the big leagues. The service teams included about 100 players with big league experience while the majors hardly can boast that many genuine big leaguers.

Please DON'T TRAVEL OVER LABOR DAY!

In the whole period of the war this Labor Day will be the most critical for transportation. Intercity buses simply cannot carry all the people who will need or want to travel—because hundreds of these buses are temporarily standing idle, without tires.

Your help is needed in meeting this crisis. Even if your Labor Day trip is highly essential, postpone it a few days if you possibly can. If you must go, please be prepared for possible delays and unavoidable crowding.

Nothing would give us greater pleasure than to serve you now—but the urgent needs of war come first. We know you will understand and cooperate as you have always done.

We feel sure that it won't be long until all our buses are back in service. With a proud war record behind them, and an urgent job of transporting manpower still ahead, America's buses must be kept rolling!

Hundreds of buses needed in war effort are today standing idle due to lack of tires

ST. LOUIS, SOX, TIGERS, YANKS, SEEK PITCHER

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
World series talk was legitimate business in four American league clubhouses today after a routine post-season planning session in Commissioner K. M. Landis' office but the four contenders were more interested in vacuum-cleaning the bushes, looking for another starting pitcher.

If there was a footloose hurler in the minors who could win in the big show, operators of the St. Louis Browns, Boston Red Sox, New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers would be very much interested.

Experiments were the rule, rather than the exception, as the clubs battled into the final five weeks of the season with only four games separating the Yankees and Tigers, tied for third, from the pace-setting Browns.

Rookies Meet Today
Boston tried Rex Cecil from San Diego with so-so success, two won and two lost, and was ready to gamble again today on Clem Dreisewer, acquired from Sacramento at a fancy price tag. Dreisewer's first opponent was to be Floyd (Bill) Bevens, whom the Yanks had just pulled back from their Newark farm where he had won 10 in a row. New York also had installed rookie Mel Queen from Newark as a regular starter in the battle royal windup.

St. Louis went down to the South-eastern association and back several years to pick up Willis Hudlin, the former Cleveland Indian with his famous "sinker." Detroit still looked high and low for help to bolster Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout, the 21-win twins, despite Stubby Overmire's sudden flash of forth over the week-end.

Pitching promises to be the decisive factor in the stretch drive when the Browns and Tigers will enjoy long home stands. The St. Louis team, idle yesterday, moved to Cleveland for two games before heading home to tackle Detroit in another vital series but heard bad news from the club doctor who said Bob Muncie would be lost for a week or 10 days with a sore arm.

Sox Gain Second
Boston took over second place by clubbing the Yanks, 7-4, in the only game in the Harbridge loop yesterday. Red Barrett, who relieved Yank Terry in the fourth, picked up his 8th win at Bill Zuber's expense. The Red Sox pitchers walked 13 men but left 14 New Yorkers stranded in a 6-hit effort.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who have nothing more serious to do than get ready for the opening of the series at Sportsman's park, Wednesday, Oct. 4, came up with three runs in the last of the ninth to shade Cincinnati 3-2. Mort Cooper notched his 100th big league triumph and 19th of the year with the help of Kenny O'Dea's two-run pinch homer. Harry Gumbert was the Cincy loser.

Pittsburgh at Chicago, the only other scheduled game, was washed out.

The only ancient library in which the books have been found intact was at Herculaneum, and contained about 1,800 volumes.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Aug. 29 (AP)—The recently-revised discussion of whether match play provides a true test of golfing ability, leaves this corner cold . . . The argument against match play is that a player can blow a couple of holes with 7's or 8's and still win . . . But in a 72-hole medal tournament, the guy who ruins a round that way still has three chances to make it up, so what's the difference . . . After expending a lot of thought on a scoring system that would give credit both for match-play victories and medal scores, we found no way of making allowances for the ability to win when the chips are down, and its human fallibility that makes golf interesting . . . Any good mechanic could devise a machine that would shoot better than Byron Nelson, but no-one would put up $10,000 prize money for it to win.
